Death of Salary Ordinance Forecasted

Lowell Bleachery Plans Big Expansion

City Council Will Vote to Sustain Mayor Donovan's Veto of the 1923 Salary Ordinance

According to authentic information given out today, the city council next Tuesday night will vote to sustain the mayor's veto of the 1923 salary ordinance. What the actual line-up of councilors will be on the matter is not known but a two-thirds majority, necessary for the passage of the ordinance, will not prevail and without it the order will be killed.

Humors were as loose as ashes around city hall today relative to what will happen to the ordinance when it comes up to a vote, and in one instance the number of councilors who, it is said, will change their previous votes and vote to sustain the veto, went as high as three. This would kill it, 8 to 7.

When the ordinance was passed and sent to the mayor, it was by a vote of 10 to 5. If this same vote was maintained next Tuesday, the order would become effective in spite of the veto, but if only one of the 10 who voted for it changes over to the opposition, the necessary two-thirds will not be obtained.

As it looks today from the street, it is a sure 9 to 6 shot, with not too much of a gamble being involved in a bet that it will die, 8 to 7, and that's that.

FIRE AT HAMPTON BEACH

Fire Station, Apparatus, and Buildings Nearly Destroyed
—Loss $40,000

HAMPTON, N. H., March 20.—Hampton Beach lost its fire station and some of its apparatus when flames swept the building and spread to adjoining property early today. Brown's garage and the cottages of Alexander Brown and Percy Brown also were destroyed. Occupants of tenements over the garage escaped with difficulty, but no one was injured. Coast guards from the Hampton station assisted firemen and residents in fighting the flames. The total loss was estimated at $40,000.

LOWELL STATISTICS
W. F. Quarrie, Publishing Company has informed the Lowell chamber of commerce that E. D. Foster, editor of "The World Almanac," New York, wishes to brush up a little on present-day statistics relating to Lowell and its inhabitants, for incorporation in the next almanac. The chamber of commerce will oblige.

NO INDICTMENTS AGAINST PROVIDENCE PUBLISHERS CHARGED WITH CRIMINAL LIBEL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 21.—The Providence county grand jury reported no indictments in the cases of John A. Hennessy, president of the Hope Publishing Co., publishers of the Providence News, and Henry DeWitt Hamilton, secretary and treasurer of the company, who were charged with criminal libel by former Governor Robert Livingston Beekman, in connection with matter published in the newspaper during the election campaign of last fall.

No indictment was reported also in the case of Herve J. Lagace of Woonsocket, who was charged with obtaining money under false pretences. The matter published in the Providence News on which Governor Beekman based his complaint, had to do with the payment to Lagace in a Providence hotel of $1500 by J. Henry Reuter, manager of Mr. Beekman's campaign as republican candidate for United States senator last fall against United States Senator Peter G. Gerry, democrat.

PALMER FIRE HEARING DEVELOPS INTO AMICABLE DISCUSSION OF WATER PRESSURE

The Palmer fire hearing conducted before the city council last night did not develop any of the sensational aspects or angles previously forecasted but, rather resulted in an amicable, harmonious and constructive discussion of ways and means whereby lives and property in the upper sections of Belvidere may better be safeguarded against loss by fire.

It was one of those hearings concerning which all the thunder occurs prior to the hearing itself. No attack was made upon the fire department officers or men and no one was blamed for the loss of the Palmer residence. Everyone agreed, or, at least seemed in perfect accord upon the common ground, that insufficient water pressure is the besetting evil at that particular spot in the city and that no fire department in the world can be expected to do the miraculous and put out a fire without adequate water pressure and a copious volume flowing through the main.

There was unanimity of thought and belief that the Belvidere residents

Christian Hill sections, as well—need better protection from the standpoint of water pressure. The question is, how can it be secured? A booster pump and different type hydrants were suggested among other things, but it still remains a question about which there may be most serious reflection and study.

"Don't Let It Happen Again"
The word, or admonition, or plea left with the council members by persons living in the upper Fairmount street neighborhood, who spoke at the hearing, was:

"Gentlemen, don't let it happen again!"

During the hearing, Daniel J. Donahue, representing many interested citizens, filed with the council a petition, asking for a full investigation of water and fire engine possibilities by a committee to be composed of Chief Edward P. Saunders, John S. Caldwell, engineer of the New England Insurance Exchange, and Arthur G. Sanford, chief engineer of the Locks and Canals Co. This petition was referred to the special sub-committee on public safety.

The speakers at the hearing included Jackson Palmer, Arthur C. Spalding.

"LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN"

What's happened to the Lowell listing bill?

That is the question of the hour at city hall, particularly in the offices of the assessors and election commission.

John King suggests a "Lost Strayed or Stolen" advertisement, with suitable reward for any person or persons giving information as to its whereabouts.

The bill, aimed to transfer the work of assessing polls from under the jurisdiction of the assessors to the election commission, was filed in the house of representatives some time ago and has been traced through several stages of legislation, but has escaped actual capture, much to the chagrin of the election commissioners and others interested in its passage. On different occasions the bill has been reported as being seen in the neighborhood of the governor's desk and once or twice was tracked as far as the committee on bills in third reading, but its present habitat is unknown.

Any person having authentic information regarding it is asked and urged to communicate at once with Hugh C. McOsker, chairman of the commission, or any of his fellow-members.

FINAL PAPERS IN REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Final papers in the transfer of the beautiful residence of Dr. George H. Pillsbury in River Cliff road to Thomas Burke, proprietor of the Barber Mfg. Co., were signed this morning in the office of Hon. James E. O'Donnell. This property, which was talked about for some time by the old city government as an ideal place for an isolation hospital, consists of a 14-room building, large stables and garage and 11 acres of land including a large orchard and beautiful lawn, which runs down to the river bank. It is assessed for $20,100. Mr. Burke will occupy the place with his family.

The transfer of the George C. Dempsey property in Andover street to Adam Guilmette was effected this morning in the office of E. Gaston Campbell, when the final papers in the transaction were signed by all parties involved. This property is one of the most beautiful in the Andover street district and consists of a large and substantial home with several acres of land. Mr. Guilmette will occupy the street floor of the building and will convert the upper part into kitchenettes.

POLICE CHIEF SAYS LOCAL DANCE HALLS NOT FREQUENTED BY LIQUOR DISPENSERS

That public dance halls and other amusement centers in the city of Lowell are not frequented to any great extent by "bootleggers" and other persons employed in the illegal distribution of anti-Prohibition beverages, was the opinion expressed by Superintendent Thomas H. Atkinson of the local police in discussing the apprehension of an alleged liquor law violator in a Lowell dance hall last Saturday night.

The superintendent stated that the recent case of violation was the first one brought to his attention for many months and that such incidents in this city have been conspicuously by their absence. Saturday's arrest, he said, followed a telephone message from an unknown party in a popular dance hall, who conveyed the information that a certain individual was disposing of liquor in an ante-room of the hall.

When the police arrived, the dispenser of the wet goods was taken into custody and turned over to a federal agent who took him to Boston, and in the federal court there Monday, he was held in $500 bonds. This is the first occurrence of this nature in Lowell, said the superintendent, and he feels that the drastic measure taken

LOWELL BLEACHERY PREPARES TO SPEND MORE THAN $100,000 IN LOCAL PLANT EXPANSION

Progress is the motto of another of Lowell's prosperous and nationally-known concerns affiliated with the textile industry, Lowell Bleachery. In the Carter street industrial section of the city, is prepared to expand operating departments in dyeing in this city, notwithstanding the erection of a new bleaching plant in the south and the immense business already being done in a third large industrial group of the corporation in St. Louis.

More than $100,000 was spent in the Lowell Bleachery center in this city last year. The corporation is now prepared to spend fully that amount, if not more, in further local extensions, this time enlarging the dyeing department of the Bleachery plant, that has for some time been inadequate to meet future demands.

When the news came last year that the Lowell Bleachery was to abolish its dyeing department in the Carter street plant and transfer it to the new plant now in process of completion at Exeter, N. H., it was, of course, an outlook rather dubious for present employees of the department so far as future employment was concerned. While the force of employees at the Bleachery may be slightly reduced when the dyeing department is moved to Exeter, plans are now under way by the management to provide as many positions for employees as possible. That is one of the objects, in truth, of the new construction now being rapidly carried on in the dyeing quarter at the Carter Street Bleachery.

The single dyeing plant occupied for many years was at one time a very busy section of the Bleachery plant. Then the work fell off. War orders came and the expansion followed naturally, but the dye house was not used so regularly as in the past. Since the war work has been carried on in a small way in the single plant. Now the plans are to increase the size of this branch of Continued to Page 14.

ALLEGED GEM ROBBERS HELD
NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 21.—Two armed men held up the jewelry store of Edward O. Zornitz here today, escaping with $200 worth of rings, watches and other articles. The police sent an alarm to cities and towns north of here. Two hours after the robbery, the New Haven police arrested two men on a motive car entering the city. The prisoners had revolvers and pistols in their pockets and were held as gem robbery suspects.

LOWELL OPERATIVES SHARE IN INCREASE

President John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council, who is also a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers of America, was delighted with the news of the 12½ per cent wage increase granted to all employees of the American Woolen Co. as the new rate of wages will affect a great number of the U. T. of A. of this city, who are employed in the plants of the Beaver Brook mill in Collinsville, Ramshad mills and the Bay State Woolen Co. of this city.

Mr. Hanley refused to comment on the effect the voluntary increase in wages will have on the demand of the textile operatives of Fall River and other textile centers for a 20 per cent wage increase. He stated he will report the doings of the New England conference board meeting, which was held at Boston last Sunday, at the regular meeting of the Lowell Textile council next Friday night. "I will make no suggestion whatever at the meeting," he continued, "for I have decided not to take the initiative in any local move for more wages, but will leave the matter entirely in the hands of the members of the council, who represent the various local unions affiliated to the United Textile Workers of America."

average and that the company wanted them to have all the money you can earn and that we can afford to pay." President Wood's letter follows:

"Over one year ago when reductions in wages were threatening from concerns all about us, I made the statement that there would be no reduction in wages for some time to come. You were thereby assured of wages continuing undisturbed at their present level."

"The present conditions of business seem to call upon me for another statement. You have had steady work in a degree above the average. You all know what this steady employment means. It means more money actually taken home in your pay envelopes. In this we can all rejoice. More real wages are secured by steady work than by any paper scale of wages. We want you to have all the money you can earn and that we can afford to pay."

"The prospect for the opening of our goods this season were fixed purposely to secure the necessary orders to run our mills at a certain high per cent of capacity. It did not seem wise to include a raise of wages at that time. As a result of this policy, our purpose is being more than justified. We therefore announce now that we will give you an increase of 12½ per cent, effective in all the mills of the American Woolen Co., April 30, 1923, until further notice."

"Let me take this opportunity to tell you that it is most gratifying and encouraging to know that you have shown and are showing confidence in the management of the company. As in the past, so now, it is my one concern to take care of your interests to the best of my ability. In whatever way your success can be promoted, it will be done."

HARDING PLANS TOUR

President to Stress the Necessity for Impartial Enforcement of Nation's Laws

FORT PIERCE, Fla., March 21.—Old hours during his northward cruise are being utilized by President Harding in reviewing in his mind the many ideas for addresses to be delivered in case he makes the contemplated swing through the west this summer.

Such days as today, when the presidential party spent several hours at a stretch steaming northward from this city on the houseboat Pioneer, afford the chief executive a better opportunity for such work as the planning of speeches than will be furnished after the return to Washington next month.

The president in consideration of matters connected with the western trip it is said is making no definite decisions. He has concluded, however, according to members of the vacation party, to stress in several addresses, the necessity for impartial enforcement of the nation's laws.

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG AND NEED FLUSHING

Drink Water Freely and Often, Also Take Salts if Back Hurts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your house clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN 13 COUNTRIES

ROME, March 21. (By the Associated Press).—Reports on economic conditions in 13 countries were read today before the finance group of the international chamber of commerce. Ivy Lee, acting in behalf of A. C. Bedford, chairman of the American finance committee, read the American report which covered all branches of industry, trade, finance, transportation and agriculture. The American delegation's resolution advocating the convocation of a world economic conference will not be placed before the congress before Friday. This resolution, which was to have been submitted today, embodies the views of the international chamber on reparations, inter-allied debts, international credits, budgets and exchange.

The resolution asserts that Germany must admit and pay her just obligations which, however, should not be ruinous to the nation. It points out the facility of a settlement without guarantees and says that security against attack must be assured.

A "SMILE" FOR EVERY CUSTOMER

Sahuel Canlio, who was arrested last week on a complaint charging him with illegally keeping liquor, was today found not guilty and ordered discharged. At the time of the arrest, defendant is alleged to have told the police that he gave a drink to every man buying a shave or haircut in his domestic tenement parlor in Market street on Sundays. He denied having sold the liquor at any time, keeping it merely for the purpose of treating his clientele. Judge Enright said the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a finding of guilty and ordered the case dismissed.

SACCO HAD TO BE RESTRAINED

Slayer, Who is Patient in Boston Hospital, Became
Violent Early Today
Sustained Several Abrasions
Before Attendants Could Subdue Him

BOSTON, March 20.—Nicola Sacco, convicted murderer, who is a patient at the Boston Psychopathic hospital for observation of his sanity and treatment to overcome the effects of a month-long fast, became violent early today and had to be restrained. Before members of the state constabulary and hospital attendants could subdue him, Sacco had sustained several abrasions of the forehead and neck. Hospital authorities who reported the incident in the regular bulletin said the prisoner-patient became quiet shortly afterwards, and today was resting comfortably again.

Sacco, in behalf of whom and Bartolomeo Vanzetti appeals are pending from the verdict of a jury which found them guilty of murder in the first degree for the shooting of a paymaster and his guard in 1920, is confined in a room under guard of two state police officials and with two attendants on duty constantly. About 2 o'clock this morning, the hospital bulletin said, he became somewhat excited, jumped out of bed and made a dash which brought him in collision with a chair. The guards and attendants were at his side in a moment and had to hold him against the bed to subdue him. Once calmed, it was said, Sacco proved submissive.

Development of his diet, mostly of liquids to date, has now been decided to include his favorite dish, spaghetti.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our darling son, James J. Scullin, who died March 20, 1922.
A precious one from us is gone,
The voice we loved is still.
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never will be filled.
We think we see his loving smile,
Although one year has passed,
For he is in our memory still.
And will be to the end of time.

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Chester E. Lewis, at the suggestion of the probation officer, was granted a continuance of one month when he was called to answer a charge of non-support of his wife and two minor children in the district court this morning. Lewis was first arrested on February 21 and was granted a month's continuance when it was learned that he was working in Boston. About a week after his appearance in the local court, he lost his position in Boston but kept his wife and children in the fact. She had not heard of him since she told the court, and has been living on the support of her mother. In the meantime, the husband secured a position near Boston and it is to await his further actions that the probation officer recommended the continuance today.

On condition that he reimburse the Lodon Canning company to the amount of $5 damage caused by falling through a window of the company's office yesterday afternoon, and also that he leave town as soon as possible, a suspended sentence of three months to the house of correction, suspended for a year, for unlawfully possessing gaming implements, John A. Quinn will be called tomorrow, while John D. Pomphrey will answer a charge of threatening on March 22.

SUIT AGAINST HOUSE OF DAVID

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 21. (By the Associated Press).—Instead of an early conclusion of the hearing in federal court of the suit filed by John H. Hensell, for an accounting with the Isrealite House of David, extended testimony was in prospect today as a result of a court ruling that the evidence might deal with alleged immoral conditions within the Benton Harbor colony.

Walter H. Nelson, Hensell's attorney, succeeded in opening up the question of moral conditions at the colony on the ground that misrepresentation of conditions to prospective members was a part of the fraud alleged by the plaintiff.

There were reports that special arrangements had been made for the protection of witnesses, following the statement on the witness stand by Mrs. Hazel Worth that she had received threats.

Mrs. Worth was the chief witness yesterday and the first to disclose alleged immoral practices within the colony. As a member, she said, she was one of the "inner circle" and her intimate relations with Purnell, who testified in prospect today as a result of a court ruling that the evidence might deal with alleged immoral conditions within the Benton Harbor colony.

TOIL AND PATIENCE PRICE OF SUCCESS IN EGYPT

VALLEY OF THE KINGS, Luxor, Egypt, March 21.—(By the Associated Press).—While the world has been following with unabated interest and curiosity the wonderful archaeological discoveries in the Valley of the Kings, little thought has been given to the years of toil, research and patience given by archaeologists in these far-off ruins in order that these wonders of a vanished civilization may be made available to present generations. It is perhaps little understood that the recent unearthing of the tomb of King Tutankhamun by Howard Carter, the British excavator, represents a continuous effort of 33 years of research and excavation. Carter began digging on the site of Thebes, the ancient capital of Egypt, when he was eighteen and has never ceased his labors.

He was never rich enough to conduct his own excavations, but has invariably worked for others. Some of his most notable work was done under

Theodore M. Davis of Boston, who from 1907 to 1914 discovered six royal tombs and a wealth of rare and valuable antiquities. In more recent years Carter has been associated with Lord Carnarvon, who financed the excavating work of Tutankhamun's tomb. Carter has derived no pecuniary reward from his years of research. A friend has described him as "poor as a fourth mouse." American visitors at the newly-found tomb have remarked that the now famous excavator wears the same suit of clothes, the same hat and shoes, daily, Sunday, and throughout the year.

Carter's devotion and labors in the cause of Egyptological science are typical of the example of all excavators. British, American and French, in the ancient ruins of Egypt. These men may be described as modern hermits in this 3,000-year-old Valley of the Kings. They lead a one-sided and narrow existence, cut off from all civilization and uplifting influences, the scene or more of those who conquer the foreign colonies of Luxor move within a narrow grove and seldom even come in contact with one another. Excavating is almost a religion with them.

The Valley of the Kings and the Theban hills, 450 miles up the Nile from Cairo, are infested with wolves, jackals, wildcats, foxes, snakes, lizards, scorpions, vultures, beetles and vermin. The archaeologists live in unpretentious stone and mortar houses with nothing but the barest rough-hewn furniture and the most primitive household equipment. The house occupied by the American experts was built through the generosity of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, who was moved to pity by their privations and exposure.

The natives of the valley are pathetically poor and untutored. Food is scarce and expensive. Water, when it exists at all, has to be brought from afar in hand-buckets. The nights are cold, and fuel is difficult to obtain. Many of the other needs of life also are lacking. The heat of the valley is distressingly severe during the day, and the entire area is plagued with flies and pernicious insects.

The archaeologists have few social contacts. They live like recluses. The whole west bank of the Nile in the neighborhood of ancient Thebes is a desolate, forbidding waste of mud, sand and rock. No flower or vegetable or blade of grass has reared its head above this barren terrain for 50 centuries. Only the most primitive plants exist. Houses are few and far between. In selecting this place for their eternal entombment the ancients chose with an eye to its solemnity, seclusion and silence. The only human voices that move among the sequestered ruins of what was once the most flourishing city in the world are heard and specter-like Arabs dressed in white robes.

The American visitor to the cavernous valley which holds the Imperial dead of by-gone ages is over-awed by the majesty and dignity of the great, precipitous sandstone cliffs that stand sentinel on either side of the necropolis. He is reminded of the heights of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, or of Yellowstone Falls when the moonday sun transforms them into a golden valley.

By day nothing disturbs the deep repose of the place except the sound of the pick-axes and shovels of the crowds of native boys and men employed in combing the earth for its still hidden archaeological treasures. By night the stillness of the valley of the dead is broken only by the howling of owls and the cries of jackals and wildcats. In the midst of the silence and solitude one feels himself standing upon the brink of two worlds, with eyes gazing into a vista of the unknown.

Sleeping in the heart of these mountains are Tutankhamun and his royal kindred. Some of the tombs go down 150 feet and extend back a distance of three city blocks. The ancients believed these were the portals to heaven and everlasting life. American visitors to the chambers of death get a fleeting sense of eternity and immortality as they enter the innermost recesses of the tombs and look upon the wan and pathetic features of a Pharaoh just as he was laid away 3,000 years ago. A modern electric light throws its rays upon the emaciated face, and gives the beholder a thrill of awe and trepidation.

Day after day, throughout the years, death is looked upon by the kneeling kins their lonely calling, finding here a broken statue of a sovereign, there the tomb of a high priest, here the shattered skeleton of a human, there the crumbled figure of a goddess, and everywhere small, dark, and dimly lit, the world's remnants of culture, art and humanity.

FAMOUS WESTERN HOTEL PASSES INTO HISTORY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 21.—Pioneers of the '60's from the east and northeast who remember the first hotel that was built across the river from the town of St. Anthony, which is now Minneapolis, in all probability have seen the last of the historic structure. The Nicolet hotel, this city's first hotel, is to be razed to make way for the new Nicolet, a $3,500,000 building. Woven into the industrial growth, social welfare and general expansion of Minneapolis, the Nicolet hotel in the early days was the stopping place of leaders in the northwest and the nation. In its now antiquated rooms there have slept Presidents Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt, General William T. Sherman and General John A. Logan, as well as a number of other nationally known figures who have since passed away, were listed on the hotel's register.

Built in 1855, the Nicolet prospered after ferry boats and a suspension bridge made St. Anthony accessible to the other side of the Mississippi and the new town (Minneapolis) arose from the small stores and bridge square next to the river. It was built at an original cost of $100,000 by two Boston men. As the town grew, additions were built until the hotel reached its present size.

MAYOR ACTS AS TRAFFIC COP
READING, Tex., March 21.—Mayor John K. Stauffer is a firm believer in the old adage "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," and to prove his contention that 45 minutes was not too long a trick for traffic officers to work, he donned a uniform at the cold and busiest corner in the city. The day he chose was the coldest of the year.

The mayor recently reduced the periods of traffic officers from one hour to 45 minutes. The men then asked a further reduction in the time. After two hours' work, the mayor said: "This job, of course, isn't the most pleasant in cold weather, but it isn't half as bad as that of the night patrolman who pounds his beat continuously for 11 hours in all kinds of weather."

The planet Neptune is 2,793,500,000 miles from the sun. London omnibuses last year carried 100,000 passengers.

Your Kidneys!

"Don't Treat Your Kidneys Rough," Warns Dr. Carey

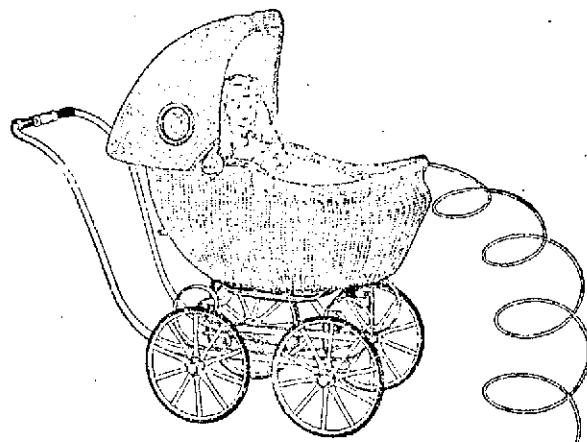

Constant Flushing May Injure the Delicate Organism and Seldom Removes the Poisonous Deposits

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he generously warns people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention.

Backache, for instance, puffiness under or around the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals.

"Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey. "And I feel upon retiring that I should tell all who even suspect kidney or bladder trouble, about my Prescription No. 777, which, during my active practice, has cured thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments."

This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name of Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777, a name that every sufferer from kidney trouble should remember. You can obtain it at Fred Howard's and A. W. Dowe Co.—Adv.

The Health Doctor A Tribute to Mothers

MOTHERS are health doctors. Their responsibility is to guard family health. It is mothers who are making the world clean. For centuries mothers have feared, hated and fought dirt.

The marvelous advances in sanitation which are slowly, surely conquering disease are but the organized expression of woman's worship of cleanliness. To her influence must be credited clean schools, clean streets, clean neighborhoods.

Who can explain the mystery of a mother's protective instinct which ever guards the lives of those she loves? Is it that—

"—once, with eyes tear-stained, yet looking upward,
With smiling lips she passed beneath the rod,
Descending almost to the vale of shadows
To bring a little new-born soul from God."

Every mother knows that dirt is dangerous. She knows that dirt caused the fever which wasted the wonderful little body that was once part of herself—that burned up vitality which probably never can be wholly replaced.

Dirt caused that skin infection which poisoned the body and may result in permanent ill health.

Is it any wonder mothers insist on keeping their homes clean—that they make their children bathe and clean up after play and before eating—that they plead with their husbands to remove dangerous street dust before romping with the babies?

And isn't it natural that mothers should have an abiding respect for good soap?

Lifebuoy is now probably the most widely used toilet soap in the world because mothers know that it provides a dependable protection to health. Lifebuoy is more than soap—it is a health habit.

Its rich, creamy, healing lather of palm-fruit oil and coconut oil is permeated with a wonderful health ingredient which wards off the invisible dangers ever present in dirt. This protection penetrates deep down into every pore, cleansing and purifying—awakening the skin to radiant health.

It clears the complexion, removing the cause of tiny infections so marring to beauty. It keeps baby's skin soft, rosy and free from rashes. It safely removes germ-laden dirt and grime from hands, face, knees and feet of your youngsters, preventing infection of scratches and bruises, and combating the contagions which are spread by dirt.

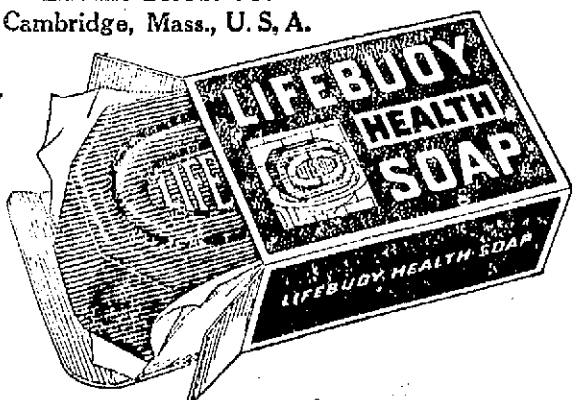

Men will tell you how much they like Lifebuoy, and explain how the health ingredient purifies and deodorizes the skin.

For the health of your family place a cake of Lifebuoy at every place where there is running water. Today!

APPRECIATION OF MUSIC COURSE FOR LOWELL

Stuart Mason, well-known composer and member of the faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music, is to be the instructor of the university extension course, which the division of university extension, Massachusetts department of education, is planning to open in the music room of the new Lowell high school, Kirk street, on Thursday evening, March 22, at 7.30 o'clock. The subjects of the course will be different from those which were covered in last year's course. Definite announcement of these subjects will be made at the first meeting of the class.

Mr. Mason will aim by means of lectures on musical subjects to cultivate an intelligent understanding and enjoyment of good music among those who take the course.

Emphasis will be laid on the development of taste and appreciation rather than upon the technical side of music. The course of ten lessons is planned along lines of general cultural training, as it is not the purpose of the course to develop professional musicians, but rather to teach men and women to listen to and appreciate music.

Mr. Mason will give practical illustrations from works of importance in an abundance of musical selections, and with their aid will train students in analytical study of masterpieces from the point of view of the listener. He plans to take up the evolution of rhythm, harmony and melody and their powers and offices in musical expression. The lives and best works of great composers will be studied, together with their relation to the progress of musical art.

Mr. Mason has recently received from the French government the decoration of "Palme Académique" in recognition of his attainments as composer and interpreter of old and modern French music. Several of his compositions have been produced by musical organizations.

Applications for membership will be accepted at the first meeting of the class on Thursday evening, March 22, at 7.30 o'clock. Only the usual small charge will be made for enrollment.

AWARDED SILVER STAR CITATION

Frank S. Howard of 11 Raymond place is one of 11 Massachusetts men who have just been awarded silver star citations for gallantry in action during the World war. Howard's citation is for gallantry in action near Beaumont, France, Oct. 26, 1918. At that time he was a private in Co. C, 104th Infantry, but at the time of his discharge he held the rank of corporal. The citation gives his "present address" as 60 Fifth street, but the directory shows that he is now living in Raymond place. He is employed by J. H. Cover & Co., as a driver.

The citation follows: "Frank S. Howard, corporal, then private, Co. C, 104th Infantry, 26th division, France, Oct. 26, 1918. In utter disregard of his safety he rescued two men under heavy artillery and machine gun fire carrying them over broken ground to a place of safety where he administered first aid. Present address 60 Fifth street, Lowell, Mass."

SAYS HOLY LAND LACKS FERTILE SOIL

JERUSALEM, March 21.—(By the Associated Press).—Addison E. Southard, American consul here, has just completed an exhaustive survey of the commercial and agricultural resources of Palestine. He has also investigated the subjects of port development, hydro-electric resources, irrigation and banking. In view of the optimistic reports issued by those seeking to make the Jewish National Home in Palestine a success, it is interesting to note that the American consul entertains serious doubts regarding the agricultural and industrial resources of the country.

"Approximately one-third of the area of Palestine proper," says he, "or roundly 2,000 square miles, is barren land capable of little, if any, agricultural development. Fully an additional fifth of the total area, or more than 2,000,000 acres, has definite agricultural possibilities; but irrigation and other more or less expensive requirements will considerably prejudice the profits to be obtained from farming. The country is sparsely settled, and much of the land has been left fallow for centuries. At the present time the estimated area under cultivation in all Palestine amounts to fewer than 1,000,000 acres."

American business men who recently visited Palestine have found confirmation of Mr. Southard's observations in the great stretches of rocky and barren land. Only in the broader valleys and plains is it at all fertile, and the Arabs, who form 85 per cent. of the population, have a difficult time eking out an existence. It can hardly be expected, therefore, that the Jews of the world will be attracted to the so-called "National Home" set up in the Holy Land by Great Britain.

The number of Hebrews who have come to settle here from the United States and other countries is relatively small. Of the 700,000 population of Palestine, only 11 per cent. is Jewish. These particular callings for which Hebrews throughout all times have shown an especial predilection—clothing manufacture, merchandising, banking and money-changing—are singularly lacking in the Holy Land. Industrial activity is almost negligible. Fruit-growing and souvenir-making are the principal pursuits.

Most of the Jews who have left America for what they believed to be "The Promised Land" have found life in Palestine difficult and expensive. Many of them have engaged in small farming and other culture; others have set up small retail stores in Jaffa, Haifa and other large towns. The main streets of Jerusalem and Jaffa now resemble busy retail centers in the East side of New York. The Hebrew and English language vie with Arabic as the prevailing tongues in the commercial markets.

"Palestine," says Consul Southard in his report, "is a small country without demonstrated natural resources of any particular importance. Its population is small and will not for some years possess any considerable purchasing power. Within its own limits it will produce or consume little as compared with the average world political or commercial unit."

The consul's statement that the local population neither produce nor consume much explains why the world Jew has such reluctance in colonizing the Holy Land. The Arab population is proverbially poor and produces little beyond a few staples of the farm and vineyard. The Jew, who is essentially a merchant and trader, finds it impossible to live off the Arab, and he finds it equally impossible to exploit his own people.

MEETING OF GRACE CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

The Men's club of the Grace Universalist church held their monthly meeting last night in the vestry of the church. A roast chicken supper was served at 6:30 o'clock, under the direction of Frank Gilbert and an able corps of assistants and it was nearing 8 o'clock when the tables were cleared. Ora W. Hardy, president of the organization, presided at a short business session following the supper and then introduced a troupe of actors and actresses from the Keith circuit who entertained with a splendid vocal and instrumental concert interspersed with comic and magical performances. Three men and three women made up the team and their work individually and collectively provided one of the best entertainments given before the Men's club.

LACK OF COAL KILLS NIGHT LIFE OF BERLIN

BERLIN, March 21.—Night life in Berlin was dealt a hard blow through the recent police regulation prohibiting public dancing, and requiring all cafes to close at 11 p. m.

Many of the dance halls still keep open, and have tried to provide substitutes for cabaret performances, but the would-be merry-makers sit listlessly about and seem to show no interest except when the orchestras strike up dance music, then they wiggle their shoulders, yawn, and move sadly into the dimly lighted streets at 11 o'clock.

Until the Ruhr occupation and the threatened shortage of fuel, cafes were permitted to remain open until one o'clock. That made it possible for theatre crowds to visit the dance-halls and cafes after the theatre performances. But now this is impossible, as most of the theatres begin their program at 7:30 or 8:30.

Walters' organizations are endeavoring to have the theatres open at 6:30, so that the crowds may visit the cafes after the performance and thus prevent thousands of waiters and other cafe employees from losing their jobs.

A new night clubs, or night "lokals," have been organized in remote sections and are endeavoring to provide night life in spite of police regulations. Through waiters in regular cafes they distribute cards giving the address of guides who will find all-night dancing places. These guides, in turn, convey parties to places where other loafs assume the leadership and conduct their patrons to remote halls in the center of blocks where liquor is provided at extortionate rates and the habitués keep their eyes on back stairways through which escape may be made if a raid takes place.

But night clubs do not offer the financial returns they did a few months ago. Tourists are scarce. Foreigners who were in Germany for pleasure have nearly all gone since the French went into the Ruhr. Subway trains all stop before midnight, and consequently Berlin is a dark, dead city after that hour.

FATHER BURNED, BUT HE SAVES BABIES

DANVERS, March 21.—Although his right arm was badly burned, George A. Harrigan of 66 Ash street last night carried his two babies from the blazing house and then rescued seven cows before submitting to medical treatment.

Fire destroyed Harrigan's seven-room farm house, a barn, a shed, a 2½ ton truck, which was loaded with 150 bushels of parsnips, a pump and a number of farm implements. The damage is estimated at $7000. Harrigan was working under a motor truck in his barn by the light of a lantern. In some manner the lantern was tipped over and the flaming kerosene spread over the floor.

recent visit, he will also render a number of new classics.

On his first appearance here local musical critics paid O'More a glowing tribute. Read what Mr. Sydney Flett, dean of local musical critics, had to say:

Coming to Lowell practically unknown, Colin O'More, American tenor, had reason to be pleased with the warmth of his reception at the Memorial Auditorium last evening in a song recital in which he had the assistance of Carl Brunner at the piano.

Of Irish descent, it was natural, perhaps, that his program should be patterned after those of other better known singers of his race. Let it be said, however, that Colin O'More may justly claim a hearing on his own merits and on those alone. He has a resonant voice, smoothly produced and admirably controlled, lyric in quality, but by no means thin and splashing. He has evident feeling for the mood of his own songs and for the flow of melody. Above all, and it is a quality that will go far to win him a vogue on the concert stage, a well nigh impeccable diction, practically every word whether in English or in French being distinctly and at the same time musically enunciated.

He gave the two classic airs at the opening of the program with beauty of phrasing and ample breadth of tone, keeping them in the classic vein, content to reveal the beauty of the music and to allow it to speak for itself.

Artistically, the group of delightful French songs, served to maintain the good impression he made. Notably in the "L'adieu du Matin" of Pessard there was an admirable management of the mezzo voice and at the close of the group the audience was quick to show its approval, the singer responding with the "Little Town in Old County Down" made familiar on the record.

An might be expected, Mr. O'More makes an instant appeal with his Irish songs. Clearly he has the feeling for their melody, for the humor or the pathos of the words. And sung as he sang them last evening they are worth the skill of an artist. To the list on the program were added others. For beautifully sustained singing in the ballad style he did nothing better than "She is Far From the Land" in its way one of the gems of the evening. The Balladure Ballad, an old Derry song, "Norah O'Neil" and other favorites were added to the list before the audience was content.

Equally effective too, was his singing of the modern songs, well chosen to display his color and method, reaching a climax in "Thine Eyes Still Shine" by Schneider. McCormack's accompaniment. Again several numbers were demanded at the close of the program, and as generously given.

Once more it may be added that Colin O'More does not need to tour on the reputation of others. He has the voice and the art to make good in his own right.

The entertainment committee reported that plans are practically completed for a reception to the members of Lawrence aerie in the near future, and encouraging reports were received from the committee in charge of the big class initiation to be conducted next month.

It was stated that communications had been received from the Worcester degree team and the Attleboro to the effect that both organizations will attend the initiation and plans will be made for a big parade from the aerie hall to the Auditorium on the day of the initiation. It was also stated that the guessing contest in relation to the number of new members to be initiated will close on March 27.

TO CONSIDER TURKISH COUNTER PROPOSALS

LONDON, March 21.—(By the Associated Press) Representatives of the allied governments are meeting here today to consider the Turkish counter proposals to the Lausanne treaty. The gathering, presided over by Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, is not a formal conference, but rather has as its purpose a preliminary examination of the Turks' reply.

It is understood that after the discussion among the delegates some experts will be appointed to whom different sections of the proposals will be referred for a report.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan are the nations directly represented. Considerable interest has been aroused by the announcement that former Premier Venizelos of Greece will be in London during the meeting, not as a delegate, but in order to be available for consultation regarding questions directly affecting Greek interests. It is understood that he was invited by the British government whose guest he will be.

The R. H. Long company, with fifty-two stores in as many different cities, is retiring from the retail shoe business to devote time to the manufacturing of automobiles and shoes.

The Long company recently has built a large, up-to-date factory at Worcester. Its former shoe factory at Framingham is now entirely given over to the production of Bay State automobiles, the another branch of the Long company's activities.

Mr. Long, president and owner of the concern, has decided to devote his time between his Worcester and Framingham factories; with this end in view, the Long company is selling all their factory branch shoe stores which for years have been famous for low prices.

The Lowell shoe store of the R. H. Long company is located at the corner of Central and Middle streets, and is at present conducting a strenuous sale in an effort to close out the business.

HERE'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO DARKEN AND BEAUTIFY FADED HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It fades, turns gray or streaked. Just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur Compound enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Adv.

$20,000,000 a Year for 12 Years in Settlement of Cost of Ruhr Army Favored

PARIS, March 21.—(By the Associated Press) Payment of $20,000,000 a year for 12 years to the United States in settlement of the costs of the American army of occupation in Germany, seems feasible, in the opinion of Eliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the American Treasury.

Mr. Wadsworth, who is conferring with representatives of the allied governments on the question of reimbursing the United States for what he expended in the Rhine-watch, told newspapermen that he was awaiting definite information as to the proposed number of instalments their manner of payment, the question of priority and whether America would get a definite percentage of German reparations. He expressed the opinion that the United States would acceptably cash payment and that the Washington government would have no part in any step taken by the allies in collecting the money.

ALICE NIELSON, SOLOIST

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA IN SPECIAL PROGRAM

The Boston Symphony orchestra of 101 musicians with its noted conductor M. Monteux and Alice Nielson, one of the most popular of the American prima donnas will again on Tuesday Auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 27, at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Monteux has arranged a program for this concert which will be even more popular than the program that was given by the orchestra on its appearance here last fall and will include Carnival Romane, Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, Espana of Chabrier, a group of Wagner numbers—Prelude to the third act of Lohengrin, the Good Friday Music from Parsifal and the Ride of the Valkyries. Alice Nielson will sing both in the first and second parts of the program which will be closed with Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture.

Alice Nielson is one of the few great singers for whom the public feels a personal attachment as well as a keen admiration for her finished art. This is her first appearance in Lowell. She was to have sung here in recital earlier in the season but her engagement was cancelled on account of the illness of Heinrich Gebhardt, pianist, who was to have appeared with Miss Nielson, who stands today, an artist with all the magnetism and enthusiasm of her early career and with the ripened authority and individuality of one who has felt, reflected and embodied in her expression the knowledge of life richly lived. BUICK ENJOYS LONG EXCELLENT RECORD

All indications point to a banner year for Buick according to Fred Emerson of the Lowell Buick Co. The big Buick factories are working right up to capacity turning out both four and sixes, and if the interest and demand for Buicks that was manifested at the auto show this winter is any indication there will be many new Buicks on the roads this summer.

In speaking of the wonderful Buick record Mr. Emerson says: "Buick reputation has been built on superior engineering and superior manufacture, for these are the things that have given Buick the good qualities that mean so much to the buyer who thinks for himself, who is as cautious in the purchase of a motor car as he is in the making of an investment or the planning of a new house. "Because experienced buyers realize that past performance is an index to future performance, it is natural for them to select a new Buick. They know that the new Buick is built around the same general principles as the Buick cars of previous years."

No Bootleggers in Local Dance Halls

by the federal court will prevent a repetition of such proceedings. Lowell's dance halls are adequately policed at all times, both by regular officers and also by the policewomen, who see to it that the regulations are respected. Asked for his opinion on the abolition of "pass out" checks, as proposed by The Sun, Mr. Atkinson replied that "it was a good idea." It has been customary at the majority of public dances here, to issue such checks at intermission or other periods, which entitle the bearers to the privilege of returning without extra charge. And it is generally during this time that the "bootleggers" ply their trade. At present, there is no definite set of regulations governing dance halls in Lowell, but the police head stated this morning that the following rules adopted by the licensing authorities in Lynn and which must be strictly complied with under penalty of the suspension or revocation of the license under which the hall is operated, may be applied to Lowell.

The hall must be fully lighted at all times during the dance. Smoking is prohibited except in rooms reserved for smoking. A patron shall be in attendance.

A police officer shall be in attendance at all public dances. Minors under 17 years of age shall be admitted to the dance hall only when accompanied by parent or guardian.

"Pass-out" checks shall not be issued. Patrons must refrain from indulging in dancing that may be construed as unrefined.

Disorderly persons are liable to arrest for "disturbing a public assembly." Dancing must cease at 11 p. m. on Saturdays.

HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT BAND IS MAKING GOOD HEADWAY UNDER PRESENT LEADERSHIP

The High School Regiment band is coming along rapidly under the direction of John J. Giblin, well-known band leader and teacher of cornet, and now consists of 25 pieces, composed of the following: Nine drums, six cornets, five trombones, one euphonium, three clarinets, one alto horn and one saxophone. Each of these instruments, with the exception of the drums, has been furnished by the members of the band, and under Mr. Giblin's direction the boys are fast becoming experienced band men. Rehearsals of the full band are held every Tuesday and the enthusiasm of the members is so great that they are never content to stop rehearsing when their time is up, but urge the leader to try out some new pieces for another hour or so. Since the formation of the band several of the members have started taking private instruction and in many other ways have shown their enthusiasm.

At the present time there is a considerable scarcity of the heavier instruments, none of the pupils being able to purchase them, and an appropriation for their purchase is now before the school committee. Several students are taking lessons in the playing of these instruments and will be able to join the band as soon as the purchase is made. Mr. Giblin has made application for 11 instruments, 1 double b. bell, 1 3/4 flt. upright, 2 slide trombones, 2 baritone, 4 alto and 4 trombones. When these instruments arrive, the band will be of 40 pieces, and the leader believes it will be the best of its kind in any high school throughout the country.

If the new instruments can be pre-appropriated, secured by the first of April, the whole band will be ready to take part in the field day exercises, but without these new pieces the tone of the band will be too light to make a good impression. It is expected that the appropriation will come before the school board at their next meeting and Director Giblin hopes that they will see their way clear to make the

JOHN J. GIBLIN

RUSSIAN STATE BANK
VERITABLE GOLD MINE

MOSCOW, March 21.—Ten million dollars' worth of gold, in Russian rubles and glistening ingots of bullion, are heaped up in the treasure vaults of the Russian State bank, the result of one year's activities of this Soviet financial institution.

Twelve months ago it started doing business with a capital of depreciated paper rubles. Russian bankers, who never hesitated to take big profits, and urged along the same lines by the national necessity to accumulate real money, the bank has been adding daily to its reserve fund.

An American, for example, takes a perfectly good check for $500 in this bank to be cashed. He wants an hour and receives a slip of paper bearing caligraphic figures showing that the cashier will hand him $475 for the check. Thereupon he can easily understand how some of these profits have been made. The state bank has a monopoly on foreign exchange, but it will pay in actual American or English currency for the check it receives, and the average foreigner much prefers to pay five per cent and receive real money, instead of an armload of Soviet paper.

Another advantageous practice of the bank is to change dollars into rubles, paying practically the same rate as the money changers on the illegal bourse. The difference may be only a few thousands rubles on the dollar, but it is enough to add to the constant trickle of profits to the state bank's till.

At the beginning of 1922 it was estimated that about 300,000,000 gold rubles were still in the hands of the peasants and other private persons in Russia, having been buried or stowed away in old socks against a rainy day. The opening of legal banking operations, and the frank winking on the part of government authorities at operations on the so-called illegal bourse, have coaxed many millions of this gold from its hiding places. A considerable portion has found its way to the State bank, which sends its own agents to these illegal bourses and offers for this gold, and for foreign currency, higher prices than the private traders can afford. For this the bank, of course, pays only paper money of which it seems to have an inexhaustible supply.

MIRTH IN COURT
AT LEWIS TRIAL

Former Lawyer Charged With
Larceny of $2150 From
Ayer Couple

Wife of Accused Man Insists
on Telling Varied Qualities
of Mop

BOSTON, March 21.—A woman witness, who insisted on telling in great detail of the many and varied qualities of a patent mop, together with a deaf defendant who acted as his own lawyer, kept spectators in the superior criminal court, East Cambridge, in a state of hilarious mirth yesterday afternoon, caused court officers to threaten several times to clear the court room and brought alternate smiles and frowns to the faces of Judge Sisk and Assistant District Attorney Bushnell.

The defendant is Edwin C. Lewis, a disbarred lawyer, who formerly lived in Brighton, now a resident of Ayer. He is being tried on a grand jury indictment charging him with the larceny of $2150, through false pretenses, from Abbie and Charles J. Wilson of Ayer.

The commonwealth alleges that Lewis induced Mrs. Wilson to purchase for $2000 a one-eighth interest in a mop manufacturing business. Mr. Wilson, according to the allegations, was promised the position of packer and shipper for the mop company, and Mrs. Wilson was promised a $4000 or $7000 share of an estimated yearly profit of $75,000.

Mortgaged Home to Get $2000

The Wilsons raised the $2000 by mortgaging their home. They renovated a shed so that it might be used as a mop manufacturing plant. When the money was paid over to Lewis and the shed was ready, it is alleged, Lewis refused to proceed with the manufacture of the mops there on the ground that the neighbors were jealous and would burn the shed down.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson testified to meeting Mr. and Mrs. Lewis for the first time in September, 1921. Mr. Wilson said that Lewis painted in glowing colors the money-making possibilities of the mop business and mentioned as customers already obtained several big railroads, the Charlestown navy yard and the state house.

In April, 1922, the witness said, Lewis informed him that he (Lewis) didn't have an automobile, he couldn't start the mop business because an automobile was necessary to deliver the mops. Wilson said that Lewis was given another $100 to get an automobile with, but he didn't get the machine. Lewis attempted to cross-examine the witness, but had considerable difficulty due to the fact that he couldn't hear the witness' replies. Mrs. Lewis frequently interrupted with loud whisperings in her husband's ear as to questions.

During the cross-examination Wilson lost control of himself and leaning far out of the witness box shouted at Lewis: "You bunce me."

Mrs. Lewis Testifies

The only witness called for the defense was Mrs. Corine Lewis, wife of the defendant. She had an absolute disregard for the questions asked by Asst. Dist. Atty. Bushnell. She answered when she was so inclined and at other times told Atty. Bushnell that it was none of his business.

Frequent admonitions from Judge Sisk had no effect on the woman who stated that she didn't care whether the judge and district attorney believed her testimony or not.

"I suppose you want the truth," she cried, "and if you do I'll give it to you."

In response to questions, the answers to which could have been confined to "yes" or "no," Mrs. Lewis disregarded the judge's and district attorney's orders to stop talking and extolled for minutes at a time the qualities of the patent mop.

Mrs. Lewis prefaced a remark to the effect that she was just a plain ordinary woman, by stating that her first husband was a cousin of the late President Cleveland and that she was related to the man who gave the town of Ayer its name.

According to Mrs. Lewis' testimony, her husband's mop was known from coast to coast and from the Mexican sands to the Canadian borders.

One western business man wanted to buy it, but as she (Mrs. Lewis) is a "Massachusetts girl," her husband decided not to sell, but to come back here and manufacture it, she said.

Asked how long she and Lewis had been married, she answered that it was none of the district attorney's business. Almost in the next breath, she said that she ought to know the kind of a man her husband is because she has been living with him for 26 years.

She said her husband had in no way

used coercion in getting the $2150 from the Wilsons.

Mrs. Lewis said that the Wilsons freely gave $150 to Mr. Lewis, telling him to purchase the automobile when he got ready to.

Find Factory Here, She Says

In response to questions as to whether or not any of the mops had ever been manufactured by her husband, Mrs. Lewis said that thousands had been and that $30,000 had been spent in exploiting the handy household implements. She said that the mops were made on hand-loomed and that she and her husband once conducted a factory for their manufacture on Wareham street, Boston.

Under cross-examination the woman couldn't remember when it was that the Wareham street factory had been operated, she couldn't remember how many mops they had when they got to the Wilsons' money, she couldn't remember where the mops were then or where they are now.

The taking of evidence was concluded yesterday afternoon. This morning District Attorney Bushnell and Mr. Lewis will present their final arguments to the jury.

About 16 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were living on Waverly avenue, Newton, when a writ of ejectment from the house in which they were living was served on Mr. Lewis by a Middlesex deputy sheriff. When the time limit of the writ was up the deputy sheriff telephoned Mr. Lewis, saying that he was about to see that the writ was enforced.

It is said that Mr. Lewis replied that if the deputy sheriff came to the house he would see the biggest tragedy that ever took place in Newton.

The deputy sheriff went to the house and in his presence Lewis slashed his own throat with a razor from car to

Combat the Film Tonight

Watch how your teeth improve

Go get this free tube of Pepsodent and make this delightful test.

Millions have already done that. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now show the results that come.

Start now to fight that film on teeth. Do it to be dainty, to be safer. Do it because dentists the world over advise it. Do it for your sake and your family's sake. Learn what this method does.

Film—your great enemy

Film is the great tooth wrecker—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. Those thin coats dim the luster of the teeth.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why tooth troubles were almost universal.

Germ bred by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

Two new discoveries

Dental science has in late years found two

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent cures the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

ways to fight that film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. These two film combatants were embodied in it for daily application.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Careful people of some 50 nations now employ it, largely by dental advice.

Other essentials

Other effects were found to be essential. So Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus Pepsodent gives manifold power to these two great tooth-protecting agents. These combined results are bringing, the world over, a new conception of clean teeth.

Go prove it now

Go get this free tube and watch the change it brings. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The test will be delightful. What you see and feel will be a revelation. Cut out the coupon now.

Explaining relative values of humidity in the manufacturing of cotton textile goods in detailed fashion with many interesting descriptive points brought out in a way that could be understood by all present, Thayer Francis, representative of the Parker-Cramer Co., Fitchburg, proved a most interesting speaker at the overseers' meeting in Liberty hall last evening. Many, though a young man, showed throughout his informative discourse and explanations that his experience as a representative of one of the leading humidor manufacturing concerns of the country, has been of value and profit to textile manufacturers in particular as well as all other handlers of cotton.

The first part of the evening's lecture series was devoted to the screening of a motion picture, "How Much Does Humidity Help in Making the Work Run Better?" Through this excellent pictorial medium, the entire cotton manufacturing process was shown, with numerous comparisons made between dry and moist. The various features of the work were explained in simple language.

The Fitchburg man's address on "The Cotton" was as follows: "Cotton is an old subject. Mark Twain remarked that a lot had been said about weather but very little had been done about it."

We are going to discuss the moisture content only as it applies to the weather of the cotton mill, and we are going to try to show that considerable has been done about it.

To anyone familiar with a cotton mill it is no news that dryness adds to manufacturing difficulties—or that moisture helps. But we are not satisfied with such an abstract statement with respect to humidity.

What you will presently see is just how moisture or the lack of it makes cotton act. The motion picture has made it possible to see what we could heretofore only guess—particularly on high speed operations.

A camera uses a magnifying lens. The projection of the picture again magnifies. So these pictures are really just as if we had ten times as much eye-sight—capable of seeing ten times as fast.

Part of the operations that you will see will appear slow, but this was not accomplished by slowing down the machinery—but by means of the "slow motion" camera.

The contrasts appear in rapid succession, but the taking of these contrasting pictures was weeks or sometimes months apart. Without the motion picture the contrasts would be hard to distinguish, harder to record, difficult to remember and thus unimpressive.

There is an interesting "slow motion" section of the film which please be sure to watch for. It is a double exposure of two separate strands of yarn. One is spun under right conditions of moisture. The other is not.

Another interesting section will show the draft and calendar rolls of a drawing frame. Magnified and under "slow motion" watch particularly for the differences in selvage, thickness and tension of the web.

The film will also show fibers doing little folk dances and jumping about workable. Starting is simple, and even if the web is broken it falls into the pan. The devil is humbled, and there is far less fly and hat.

In the drawing frames dry conditions increase tension, causing a ragged selvage and a fuzzy, spotted and uneven web. The silver draws unevenly. Its weight changes, and breaks interrupt production. Under adequate moisture conditions the web is even in texture and weight, runs smoothly and has just the right tension.

Combings is a delicate quality operation. Dry conditions mean static electricity. A comparison between the appearance of a lap under dry conditions and the same lap under the right conditions clearly shows an improvement gained by proper moisture.

In the slubber the silver begins to unspool the first twisting, and the drawing out process is continued. Light and dry are always present on dry roving. The drier the atmosphere the more fuzzy the roving—the slackness of the tension, the less the roving takes the twist. This uneven roving is caused by static electricity. Frequent breaks lower production under dry conditions. Adequate moisture means smooth roving, even twist and continuous production.

Humidity Essential
It is impossible to get good yarn without adequate humidity in the spinning room. In a photograph with double exposure a strand carded and spun under adequate conditions of moisture shows a great improvement over one carded and spun under dry conditions. Starting with card slivers of the same weight which would you rather weave, knit or buy?

There are several causes for this. In a testing machine the fibres in a dry silver part from each other with very little tension, while in a moist sample there is a lively recoil in each fibre at the moment of parting. Every break means a production loss in that process. Every mended end means an imperfection in the next process.

A plying at the slubber produces a lumpy roving. Plying at the spinning frame causes lumpy yarn which must be removed in the warpers.

But we must not stop here. Yarn made moist must be kept moist. A skein of No. 17s uncombed warp yarn breaks at only 84 pounds when dry. Another skein from the same bobbin when moist, breaks at 115 pounds—a gain of 37 per cent in strength. The breakage strength of yarn with relation to its regain can readily be shown in chart form.

In the weave room strong yarn is essential to withstand the strain of shifting harnesses. Humidity maintains the strength of the yarn. A break here means not only loss of production but a defect in the goods. Success cost more than first.

When adequate humidity (a) means a legitimate sale of moisture, (b) protects good fibre from breakage and loss in process, and (c) insures more product from each pound of raw material—and each dollar of labor—why kick profits out the shipping room door?

Thirty cotton costs money. The difference between the accepted standard 8 1/2 per cent regain and the average 4 1/2 per cent regain is only 4 per cent, but the following table clearly shows what this means in a 10,000 bale mill.

Loss per bale if finished product has cotton per only 4 1/2 per cent regain

ENGLAND AROUSED BY SNOWDEN'S ATTACK

LONDON, March 21. (By the Associated Press).—The extraordinary interest aroused by Philip Snowden's attack on capitalism in the house of commons was shown yesterday when Premier Bonar Law conceded, at the suggestion of Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, that another day should be given after the Easter recess for further discussion of Mr. Snowden's motion.

In moving his motion, which denounced "the capitalist system" as a failure, and proposed that legislation be directed towards its gradual suppression, by an industrial and social order based upon public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production, Mr. Snowden declared that capitalism had not only failed to give the people a good world to live in, but had failed adequately to utilize natural resources and productive power.

The significance of Mr. Snowden's challenge is that he, with J. Ramsay MacDonald and other leaders of the party, belong to the independent labor party, which is the socialist wing of the parliamentary labor party and numbers 59 out of a total of 145 labor members of the house. This wing represents, however, not revolutionary socialism, but rather what is generally termed intellectual socialism, aiming at gradual socialism.

In the course of his speech introducing his motion, Mr. Snowden said that between 1874 and 1903 wages had increased by only 10 per cent, while incomes received by those who made no contributions to their labor had increased 12-fold; therefore, he was justified in saying that under the capitalist system an improvement of the condition of the people could not be expected.

Under the present capitalist system masses of people were working under unhealthy conditions at low wages, while at the other end of the social scale were people so rich that even the imagination was unable to devise a means of spending their superabundant wealth.

Amid labor cheers, he exclaimed: "How can you defend a system which, while claiming a monopoly of the function of finding employment, is unable to find work for a million and a half of unemployables?"

Capitalism, he continued, had not always existed; it was only one stage in the evolution of social economy and was rapidly passing away. Labor proposed no revolution; it opposed confiscation. That was the longest way to attain their object, and it was certain to end in disaster. There was no analogy between socialism and Bolshevism; to confiscate was not socialism, but die-hard torism.

Mr. Snowden argued that the whole business of parliament was dealing with failures of private enterprise. He declared that 85 per cent. of the wealth of the country was owned by 2 1/2 per cent. of the population.

SCITUATE NOT PARADISE FOR RUM RUNNERS

SCITUATE, March 21.—Residents are somewhat exasperated at reports which are either entirely incorrect or obviously exaggerated about rum runners plying their trade here.

There was a story given wide circulation yesterday that 150 cases of liquor were brought in Sunday somewhere along the nine miles of Scituate coastline, the time supposed to be just as darkness was falling, and while two trucks were engaged in throwing out a smoke screen by making as much noise as possible and traveling about the town, the 150 cases were loaded into three limousines.

These phantom super-limousines, as they are referred to by many, capable of carrying 50 cases each, were not exhibited at the recent automobile show.

Booze has been brought into Scituate in the past and may be in the future, but what people object to is that whenever a Portuguese fisherman catches a few miles off shore, a social party seems to take it for granted that the boat is loaded to several times its capacity with the choicest liquor, or when a one-ton truck goes down a street with a few bales of hay there is no question in the minds of these same people that 100 cases of rum are sought after contraband are concealed somewhere in the load, with the result that a rumor is started and this little rumor acts in a way that makes that snowball rolling down hill seem like a tame affair.

People here do not want this section to become a rum-runners' paradise, and with this in view, Capt. Glynn of the coast guard and Sheriff John P. Turner have completed arrangements so that at all times in any section, any unusual movement of boats or trucks will be observed and at once reported.

DOCTORS WILL TOUR ITALY
ROME, March 21.—Doctors of medicine of all nations to the number of 200 have been invited to join an excursion this summer to the principal thermal resorts of Italy. Interpreters will accompany the medical men, who will have a special train at their disposal and are housed in the best hotels.

The Floor for Your New Home

NO part of the house you are building or remodeling will be used as much as the floors. No part of your house will need to be cleaned so often as the floors. And the floors can be noisy or quiet, costly or economical, beautiful or drab—according to the material you select.

The qualities of linoleum are today well appreciated by architects and interior decorators. Linoleum is now considered a floor finish material and is being specified more and more in the plans for new houses.

Will you be sure to consider every one of the many merits of linoleum?

Linoleum is durable. When correctly installed it makes a permanent floor. It is easily cleaned. Dust and dirt do not work into linoleum, and a broom or vacuum sweeper speedily removes every piece of thread or grain of dust.

Linoleum requires very little care

With an occasional waxing and polishing, its colors deepen and mellow. It actually grows better looking if kept covered with a thin protecting film of floor wax.

Linoleum floors are quiet, resilient, warm, and comfortable.

Domestic or Oriental rugs may be laid on these floors as on any floor. Linoleum is nonslippery, does not splinter, shows no unsightly cracks, and is not expensive to install.

These are all practical, useful advantages. The beauty of the modern patterns of Armstrong's Linoleum and the aid they offer in decorating your home according to your own color scheme are special advantages that linoleum has over any other type of floor.

Helpful Advice to Overworked Women

MRS. C. E. CHAPMAN
1820 ELM ST., NEW ALBANY, IND.

DAY in and day out, week in and week out the tired, over-worked housewife and mother toils on, sweeping, dusting, cooking, cleaning and mending. Is it any wonder that after a time a weakness, such as Mrs. Chapman had, develops and the wife and mother pays a toll in physical weakness and pain for her efforts of love, the natural result of overwork?

Women who find themselves afflicted with weakness, pain, headaches, backache, nervousness, irritability and melancholia will be interested in Mrs. Chapman's letter, and should realize that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is especially adapted to overcome such conditions.

Mrs. Chapman's Letter Reads as Follows:
NEW ALBANY, IND.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a weakness which many women have from over work and from which I suffered for quite a while. I wasn't fit to do my work and my sister advised me to take this medicine. After the first few days the pains were not so severe as they had been and after taking a few bottles I am not bothered any more. I am doing my housework every day and highly recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman suffering from female trouble. Only yesterday a friend called on me on the phone and knowing what it did for me wanted to know what to ask for at the drug-store, so she made me give it a trial."—MRS. C. E. CHAPMAN, 1820 Elm Street, New Albany, Indiana.

Another Case of Nervous Breakdown
MEMPHIS, TENN.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sleep a room without resting. I could not do any of my work except a little at a time and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw a little book on to my porch and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I went right out and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all my own work and could not more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—MRS. O. J. HINCKLEY, 315 Union Avenue, Memphis, Tenn.

Jack Daw in Balloon Land. Chapter 18

Jack, of course, also noticed the rainfall and he told Copy he would like to get back to earth where he could seek shelter. "That's a good idea," replied Copy. "A rain cloud has settled above us and we're due for a storm. Better let Mister South Wind make you a traveling balloon."

"Will you do that for me," Jack asked Mister South Wind, and shortly the balloon was being blown up. When it was good and large, Jack was told to grab hold of the end and take Flip in his arms. "Then let the wind out of the balloon slowly and it will take you back to earth," shouted Copy.

Jack did as he was told and was soon sinking away from Copy and the South Wind. "Goodbye," shouted Jack, as he sailed down and down and down. After a short time Jack finally landed right where he started from. And the rain storm had stopped. Jack Daw's next adventure is in Candy Land.

Death of Salary Ordinance Forecasted

Wage Increase for 40,000 Operatives

City Council Will Vote to Sustain Mayor Donovan's Veto of the 1923 Salary Ordinance

According to authentic information given out today, the city council next Tuesday night will vote to sustain the mayor's veto of the 1923 salary ordinance. What the actual line-up of councilors will be on the matter is not known but a two-thirds majority, necessary for the passage of the ordinance, will not prevail and without it the order will be killed.

Humors were as loose as ashes around city hall today relative to what will happen to the ordinance when it comes up to a vote, and in one instance the number of councilors who, it is said, will change their previous votes and vote to sustain the veto, went as high as three. This would kill it, 8 to 7.

When the ordinance was passed and sent to the mayor, it was by a vote of 10 to 5. If this same vote was maintained next Tuesday, the order would become effective in spite of the veto, but if only one of the 10 who voted for it changes over to the opposition, the necessary two-thirds will not be obtained.

As it looks today from the street, it is a sure 9 to 6 shot, with not too much of a gamble being involved in a bet that it will die, 8 to 7, and that's that.

FIRE AT HAMPTON BEACH

Fire Station, Apparatus, and Buildings Nearly Destroyed
—Loss $40,000

HAMPTON, N. H., March 20.—Hampton Beach lost its fire station and some of its apparatus when flames swept the building and spread to adjoining property early today. Brown's garage and the cottages of Alexander Brown and Percy Brown also were destroyed. Occupants of tenements over the garage escaped with difficulty, but no one was injured. Coast guards from the Hampton station assisted firemen and residents in fighting the flames. The total loss was estimated at $40,000.

ORDERS PROBE OF THE L. R. STEEL CORP.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 21.—State Attorney General Sherman has ordered an investigation of the stock selling and other financial methods of the L. R. Steel Corporation. It was said at the offices of the steel receivers today.

Upon the result of this inquiry, it is understood here, will depend whether action will be instituted against promoters of steel stocks.

NO INDICTMENTS AGAINST PROVIDENCE PUBLISHERS CHARGED WITH CRIMINAL LIBEL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 21.—The Providence county grand jury reported no indictments in the cases of John A. Hennessy, president of the Hope Publishing Co., publishers of the Providence News, and Henry DeWitt Hamilton, secretary and treasurer of the company, who were charged with criminal libel by former Governor Robert Livingston Beekman, in connection with matter published in the newspaper during the election campaign of last fall.

No indictment was reported also in the case of Herve J. Lagace of Woonsocket, who was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The matter published in the Providence News on which Governor Beekman based his complaint, had to do with the payment to Lagace in a Providence hotel of $1500 by J. Henry Reuter, manager of Mr. Beekman's campaign as republican candidate for United States senator last fall against United States Senator Peter G. Gerry, democrat.

PALMER FIRE HEARING DEVELOPS INTO AMICABLE DISCUSSION OF WATER PRESSURE

The Palmer fire hearing conducted before the city council last night did not develop any of the sensational aspects or angles previously forecasted, but rather resulted in an amicable, harmonious and constructive discussion of ways and means whereby lives and property in the upper sections of Belvidere may better be safeguarded against loss by fire.

It was one of those hearings concerning which all the thunder occurs prior to the hearing itself. No attack was made upon the fire department officers or men and no one was blamed for the loss of the Palmer residence. Everyone agreed, or at least seemed in perfect accord upon the common ground, that insufficient water pressure is the besetting evil at that particular spot in the city and that no fire department in the world can be expected to do the miraculous and put out a fire without adequate water pressure and a copious volume flowing through the mains.

There was unanimity of thought and belief that the Belvidere residents-Christian Hill sections, as well—need better protection from the standpoint of water pressure; the question is, how can it be secured? A booster pump and different type hydrants were suggested among other things, but it still remains a question about which

"The word, or admonition, or plea left with the council members by persons living in the upper Fairmount street neighborhood, who spoke at the hearing, was:

"Gentlemen, don't let it happen again."

During the hearing, Daniel J. Donahue, representing many interested citizens, filed with the council a petition, asking for a full investigation of water and fire engine possibilities by a committee to be composed of Chief Edward F. Saunders, John S. Caldwell, engineer of the New England Insurance Exchange, and Arthur T. Sanford, chief engineer of the Locks and Canals Co. This petition was referred to the special sub-committee on public safety.

The speakers at the hearing included Jackson Palmer, Arthur C. Spalding.

PIGGY WIGGLY STOCK

Active Inquiry in Houses Specializing in "Over the Counter" Sales

NEW YORK, March 21.—There was an active inquiry today in houses specializing in "over the counter" sales for Piggy Wiggle stock, which was bargained from the New York stock exchange yesterday after sensational fluctuations.

At some of these houses the stock was quoted at 75 bid and 85 asked. Later other houses reported 100 bid and 150 asked. It was stated, however, that there had been no actual sales today.

Several outside houses reported sales ranging from 110 to 150.

A settlement price has not yet been determined.

FINAL PAPERS IN REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Final papers in the transfer of the beautiful residence of Dr. George H. Pillsbury in River Cliff road to Thomas Burke, proprietor of the Barber Mfg. Co., were signed this morning in the office of Hon. James E. O'Donnell. This property, which was talked about for some time by the old city government as an ideal place for an isolation hospital, consists of a 14-room building, large stables and garage and 11 acres of land including a large orchard and beautiful lawn, which runs down to the river bank. It is assessed for $20,000. Mr. Burke will occupy the place with his family.

The transfer of the George E. Dempsey property in Andover street to Adam Guillette was effected this morning in the office of E. Gaston Campbell, when the final papers in the transaction were signed by all parties involved. This property is one of the most beautiful in the Andover street district and consists of a large and substantial home with several acres of land. Mr. Guillette will occupy the street floor of the building and will convert the upper part into kitchenettes.

PAPPAS' COUNSEL SEEKS STAY OF EXECUTION

BOSTON, March 21.—A stay of execution was sought today by counsel for Paul Pappas, condemned to die within a day or two, for the killing of his housekeeper, Alice Arsenault, on Christmas day, 1920. Counsel for Pappas represented that he had new evidence to show that the woman was alive the day after Christmas, and asked that the verdict be set aside and a new trial granted. It was contended also that the evidence at the trial was insufficient to warrant the verdict, and that the government had failed to establish a motive. Judge Keating of the superior court arranged to hear the motion late today. Pappas was arrested at Montreal two years after the killing of the woman's body in a heap of ashes in the basement of a South End lodging house which she conducted for Pappas.

POPE MAY LEAVE ITALY ON VISITS

PARIS, March 21.—(By the Associated Press.) Talk is being revived of the possibility that the improved relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal may lead the pope to make visits beyond Italy, possibly going to the religious shrine at Lourdes, in southern France.

While ecclesiastical circles say such a visit is in no sense imminent, yet they view it as an interesting possibility.

No pope has visited France since Pius VII, who came for the coronation of Napoleon.

RAIDS IN DUBLIN

POLICE CHIEF SAYS LOCAL DANCE HALLS NOT FREQUENTED BY LIQUOR DISPENSERS

That public dance halls and other amusement centers in the city of Lowell are not frequented to any great extent by "bootleggers" and other persons employed in the illegal distribution of anti-Prohibition beverages was the opinion expressed by Superintendent Thomas R. Atkinson of the local police in discussing the apprehension of an alleged liquor law violator in a Lowell dance hall last Saturday night.

The superintendent stated that the recent case of violation was the first one brought to his attention for many months and that such incidents in this city have been conspicuous by their absence. Saturday's arrest, he said, followed a telephone message from an unknown party in a popular dance hall, who conveyed the information that a certain individual was disposing of liquor in an ante-room of the hall.

When the police arrived, the dispenser of the wet goods was taken into custody and turned over to a federal agent who took him to Boston, and in the federal court there Monday, he was held in $500 bonds. This is the first occurrence of this nature in Lowell, said the superintendent, and he feels that the drastic measure taken

Progress is the motto of another one of Lowell's prosperous and nationally-known concerns affiliated with the textile industry.

Lowell Bleachery, in the Carter street industrial section of the city, is preparing to expand operating departments in dyeing in this city, notwithstanding the erection of a new bleaching plant in the south and the immense business of this nature being done in a third large industrial group of the corporation in St. Louis.

More than $100,000 was spent in the Lowell bleaching center in this city last year. The corporation is now prepared to spend fully that amount, if not more, in further local extensions, this time enlarging the dyeing department of this Bleachery plant, that has for some time been inadequate to meet future demands.

When the news came last year that the Lowell Bleachery was to abolish its dyeing department in the Carter street plant and transfer it to the new plant now in process of completion at Exeter, N. H., it was, of course, an outlook rather dubious for present employees of the dyeing department so far as future positions in Lowell were concerned.

While the force of employees at the Bleachery may be slightly reduced when the dyeing department is moved to Exeter, plans are now under way by the management to provide as many positions for employees as possible. That is one of the objects, in truth, of the new construction now being rapidly carried on in the dyeing quarter at the Carter street Bleachery.

The single dyeing plant occupied for many years was at one time a very busy section of the Bleachery plant. Then the work fell off. Orders came and the expansion followed naturally, but the dye house was not used as regularly as in the past. Since the year work has been carried on in a small way in the single plant, now the plans are to increase the size of this branch of

LOWELL BILL ON GOVERNOR'S DESK

The Lowell Dyeing Bill was taken to the desk of Gov. Chandler Cox for signature on Monday afternoon of this week and the Governor has until Saturday to sign or disapprove it. It is believed he will do the former. It becomes law upon the completion of this legislative act and the Lowell election commission at once will begin its work preparatory to securing the list of polls in the city during the first week in April.

Under the provisions of the bill the salaries of the election commissioners are to be set by the mayor and the city council, not to exceed $200 per year.

BOSTON MAN ROBBED AND BADLY BEATEN

BOSTON, March 21.—Robert Campbell, proprietor of a West End tea room in Boston, was found trussed up and badly beaten on his left leg and today, he said, he had been robbed of several hundred dollars by three men and a woman who a gun-point forced him to get in an automobile which the woman was driving.

LAWRENCE, March 21.—The American Woolen Co. today announced a 12 1/2 per cent increase in wages in all of its mills.

Effective April 30

BOSTON, March 21.—Announcement of a 12 1/2 per cent wage advance, effective April 30, was made today by the American Woolen Co. The increase will be granted in all the company's mills, employing about 40,000 operatives, and the new scale will be in effect "until further notice."

In a letter addressed to the employees of the company, President William M. Wood said that they had been enjoying steady work in a degree above the

LOWELL OPERATIVES SHARE IN INCREASE

President John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council, who is also a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers of America, was delighted with the news of the 12 1/2 per cent wage increase granted to all employees of the American Woolen Co., as the new rate of wages will affect a great number of the U. T. of A. of this city, who are employed in the plants of the Beaver Brook mill in Collinsville, Barnstead mills and the Bay State Woolen Co. of this city.

Mr. Hanley refused to comment on the effect the voluntary increase in wages will have on the demand of the textile operatives of Fall River and other textile centers for a 29 per cent wage increase. He stated he will report the doings of the New England conference board meeting, which was held at Boston last Sunday, at the regular meeting of the Lowell Textile council next Friday night. "I will make no suggestion whatever at the meeting," he continued, "for I have decided not to take the initiative in any local move for more wages, but will leave the matter entirely in the hands of the members of the council, who represent the various local unions affiliated to the United Textile Workers of America."

average and that the company wanted them to have "all the money you can earn and that we can afford to pay."

President Wood's letter follows: "I have been very glad to hear of the wages were threatened from concerns all about us. I made the statement that there would be no reduction in wages at some time to come. You were thereby assured of wages continuing undisturbed at their present level."

"The present conditions of business seem to call upon me for another statement. You have had steady work in a degree above the average. You all know what this steady employment means. It means more money actually taken home in your pay envelopes. In this we can all rejoice. Many test wages are secured by steady work than by any paper scale of wages. We want you to have all the money you can earn and that we can afford to pay."

"The prices for the opening of our goods this season were fixed purposely to secure the necessary orders to run our mills at a certain high percentage of capacity. It did not seem wise to include a raise of wages at that time. As a result of this policy, our purpose is being more than justified. We therefore announce now that we will give you an increase of 12 1/2 per cent, effective in all the mills of the American Woolen Co. April 30, 1923, until further notice."

"Let me take this opportunity to tell you that it is most gratifying and encouraging to know that you have shown and are showing confidence in the management of the company. As in the past, so now, it is my own concern to take care of your interests to the best of my ability. In whatever way your success can be promoted, it will be done."

HARDING PLANS TOUR

President to Stress the Necessity for Impartial Enforcement of Nation's Laws

FORT PIERCE, Fla., March 21.—(Col.) hours during his northward cruise are being utilized by President Harding in revolving in his mind themes and ideas for addresses to be delivered in case he makes the contemplated swing through the west this summer.

Such days as today, when the presidential party spent several hours at a stretch steaming northward from this city on the houseboat Pioneer, afford the chief executive a better opportunity for such work as the planning of speeches than will be furnished after the return to Washington next month.

The president in consideration of matters connected with the western trip is said to be making no definite decisions. He has concluded, however, according to members of the expedition party, to stress in several addresses the necessity for impartial enforcement of the nation's laws.

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG

AND NEED FLUSHING

Drink Water Freely and Often, Also Take Salts if Back Hurts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's various waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delicious effervescent lithium-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking. I am not sure you will wonder what because of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year—ADV.

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN 13 COUNTRIES

ROME, March 21. (By the Associated Press).—Reports on economic conditions in 13 countries were read today before the finance group of the international chamber of commerce. Ivy Lee, acting in behalf of A. C. Redford, chairman of the American finance committee, read the American report which covered all branches of industry, trade, finance, transportation and agriculture. The American delegation's resolution advocating the convocation of a world economic conference will not be placed before the congress before Friday. This resolution, which was to have been submitted today, embodied the views of the international chamber on reparations, inter-allied debts, international credits, budgets and exchange.

The resolution asserts that Germany must admit and pay her just obligations which, however, should not be ruinous to the nation. It points out the utility of a settlement without guarantees and says that security against attack must be assured.

A "SMILE" FOR EVERY CUSTOMER

Samuel Caultie, who was arrested last week on a complaint charging him with illegally keeping liquor, was today found not guilty and ordered discharged. At the time of the arrest, defendant is alleged to have told the police that he gave a drink to every man buying a shave or haircut in his domestic tenor parlor in Market street on Sundays. He denied having sold liquor at any time, keeping it merely for the purpose of treating his clientele. Judge Bright said the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a finding of guilt and ordered the case dismissed.

TOIL AND PATIENCE PRICE OF SUCCESS IN EGYPT

VALLEY OF THE KINGS, LUXOR, Egypt, March 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—While the world has been following with unabated interest and curiosity the wonderful archaeological discoveries in the Valley of the Kings, little thought has been given to the years of toil, research and patience given by archaeologists in these far-off ruins in order that these wonders of a vanished civilization may be made available to present generations. It is perhaps little understood that the recent unearthing of the tomb of King Tutankhamun by Howard Carter, the British excavator, represents a continuous effort of 33 years of research and excavation. Carter began digging on the site of Thebes, the ancient capital of Egypt, when he was eighteen and has never ceased his labors.

Theodore M. Davis of Boston, who from 1907 to 1914 discovered six royal tombs and a wealth of rare and valuable antiquities. In more recent years Carter has been associated with Lord Carnarvon, who financed the excavating work of Tutankhamun's tomb. Carter has derived no pecuniary reward from his years of research. A friend has described him as "poor as a tomb mouse." American visitors at the newly-found tomb have remarked that the now famous excavator wears the same suit of clothes, the same hat and shoes, daily, Sunday, and throughout the year.

Carter's devotion and labors in the cause of Egyptological science are typical of the example of all excavators. British, American and French, in the ancient ruins of Egypt. These men may be described as modern hermits in this 5,000-year-old Valley of the Kings. They lead a one-sided and narrow existence. Cut off from all civilization and uplifting influences, the score or more of them who comprise the foreign colonies of Luxor move within a narrow grove and seldom even come in contact with one another. Excavating is almost a religion with them.

The Valley of the Kings and the Theban hills, 450 miles up the Nile from Cairo, are infested with wolves, jackals, wildcats, foxes, snakes, lizards, scorpions, vultures, beetles and vermin. The archaeologists live in unprotected stone and mortar houses with nothing but the barest rough-hewn furniture and the most primitive household equipment. The house occupied by the American experts was built through the generosity of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, who was moved to pity by their privations and exposure.

The natives of the valley are pathetically poor and untutored. Food is scarce and expensive. Water, where it exists at all, has to be brought from afar in hand-buckets. The nights are cold, and fuel is difficult to obtain. Many of the other needs of life also are lacking. The heat of the valley is distressingly severe during the day, and the entire area is plagued with flies and pernicious insects.

The archaeologists have few social contacts. They live like recluses. The whole west bank of the Nile in the neighborhood of ancient Thebes is a desolate, forbidding waste of mud, sand and rock. No flower or vegetable or blade of grass has reared its head above this barren terrain for 60 centuries. Only the most primitive roads exist. Houses are few and far between. In selecting this place for their eternal entombment the ancient Egyptians chose with an eye to its solemnity, seclusion and silence. The only human beings that move among the sequestered ruins of what was once the most flourishing city in the world are lean and spectre-like Arabs dressed in wild robes.

The American visitor to the cavernous valley which holds the imperial dead of by-gone ages is over-awed by the majesty and dignity of the great, precipitous sandstone cliffs that stand sentinel on either side of the necropolis. He is reminded of the heights of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, or of Yellowstone Falls when the noonday sun transforms them into a golden valley.

By day nothing disturbs the deep repose of the place except the sound of the pick-axes and shovels of the crews of native boys and men employed in combing the earth for its still hidden archaeological treasures. By night the stillness of the valley of death is broken only by the howling of owls and the cries of jackals and wildcats. In the midst of the silence and solitude one feels himself standing upon the brink of two worlds, with eyes gazing into a vista of the unknown.

Sleeping in the heart of these mountains are Tutankhamun and his royal kinsfolk. Some of the tombs go down 150 feet and extend back a distance of three city blocks. The ancient believed these were the portals to heaven and everlasting life. American visitors to the chasms of death get a feeling of awe and a sense of eternity and immortality as they enter the innermost recesses of the tombs and look upon the wan and pathetic features of a Pharaoh just as he was laid away 3,000 years ago. A modern electric light throws its rays upon the emaciated face, and gives the beholder a thrill of awe and trepidation.

Day after day, throughout the years, the silent, patient archaeologists pursue their lonely calling, finding here a broken statue of a sovereign, there the tomb of a high priest, here the shattered skeleton of a human, there the crumbled figure of a goddess, and everywhere small tokens of culture, art and humanity.

FAMOUS WESTERN HOTEL PASSES INTO HISTORY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 21.—Pioneers of the '60s from the east and northeast who remember the first hotel that was built across the river from the town of St. Anthony, which is now Minneapolis, in all probability have seen the last of the historic structure. The Nicollet hotel, this city's first hotel, is to be razed to make way for the new Nicollet, a $3,000,000 building. Woven into the industrial growth, social welfare and general expansion of Minneapolis, the Nicollet hotel in the early days was the stopping place of leaders in the northwest and the nation. In its now antiquated rooms there have slept Presidents Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt. General William T. Sherman and General John A. Logan, as well as a number of other nationally known figures who have since passed away, were listed on the hotel's register.

Built in 1853, the Nicollet prospered after ferry boats and a suspension bridge made St. Anthony accessible to the other side of the Mississippi and the new town (Minneapolis) arose from the small stores and bridge square next to the river. It was built at an original cost of $25,000 by two Boston men. As the town grew, additions were built until the hotel reached its present size.

MAYOR ACTS AS TRAFFIC COP
REKALING, Tex., March 21.—Mayor John K. Stauffer is a firm believer in the old adage "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," and to prove his contention that 45 minutes was not too long a trick for traffic officers, to work, he donned a uniform at the coldest and busiest corner in the city. The day he chose was the coldest of the year.

The mayor recently reduced the periods of traffic officers from one hour to 45 minutes. The men then asked a further reduction in the time. After two hours' work, the mayor said: "This job, of course, isn't the most pleasant in cold weather, but it isn't half as bad as that of the night patrolman who pounds his beat continuously for 11 hours in all kinds of weather."

Your Kidneys!

"Don't Treat Your Kidneys Rough,"
Warns Dr. Carey

Constant Flushing May Injure the Delicate Organism and Sediment Removes the Poisonous Deposits

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he generously warns people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention.

Backache, for instance, puffiness under or specks floating before the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals.

"Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey, "and I feel upon retiring that I should tell all who even suspect kidney or bladder trouble, about my Prescription No. 777, which, during my active practice, has cured thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments."

This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name of Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777, a name that every sufferer from kidney trouble should remember. You can obtain it at Fred Howards and A. W. Dows Co.—Adv.

The Health Doctor A Tribute to Mothers

MOTHERS are health doctors. Their responsibility is to guard family health. It is mothers who are making the world clean. For centuries mothers have feared, hated and fought dirt.

The marvelous advances in sanitation which are slowly, surely conquering disease are but the organized expression of woman's worship of cleanliness. To her influence must be credited clean schools, clean streets, clean neighborhoods.

Who can explain the mystery of a mother's protective instinct which ever guards the lives of those she loves? Is it that—

"—once, with eyes tear-stained, yet looking upward,
With smiling lips she passed beneath the rod,
Descending almost to the vale of shadows
To bring a little new-born soul from God."

Every mother knows that dirt is dangerous. She knows that dirt caused the fever which wasted the wonderful little body that was once part of herself—that burned up vitality which probably never can be wholly replaced.

Dirt caused that skin infection which poisoned the body and may result in permanent ill health.

Is it any wonder mothers insist on keeping their homes clean—that they make their children bathe and clean up after play and before eating—that they plead with their husbands to remove dangerous street dust before romping with the babies?

And isn't it natural that mothers should have an abiding respect for good soap?

Lifebuoy is now probably the most widely used toilet soap in the world because mothers know that it provides a dependable protection to health. Lifebuoy is more than soap—it is a health habit.

Its rich, creamy, healing lather of palm-fruit oil and coconut oil is permeated with a wonderful health ingredient which wards off the invisible dangers ever present in dirt. This protection penetrates deep down into every pore, cleansing and purifying—awakening the skin to radiant health.

It clears the complexion, removing the cause of tiny infections so marring to beauty. It keeps baby's skin soft, rosy and free from rashes. It safely removes germ-laden dirt and grime from hands, face, knees and feet of your youngsters, preventing infection of scratches and bruises, and combating the contagions which are spread by dirt.

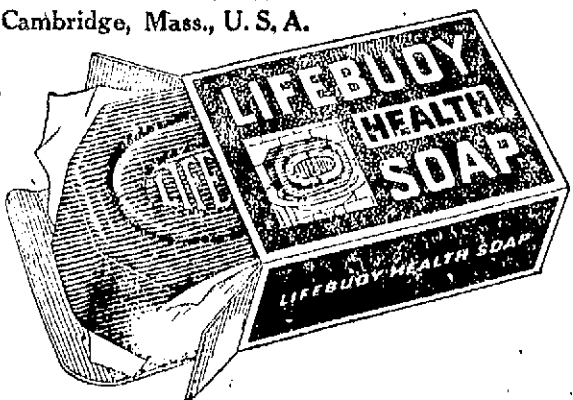

Men will tell you how much they like Lifebuoy, and explain how the health ingredient purifies and deodorizes the skin.

For the health of your family place a cake of Lifebuoy at every place where there is running water. Today!

APPRECIATION OF MUSIC COURSE FOR LOWELL

Stuart Mason, well-known composer and member of the faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music, is to be the instructor of the university extension course, which the division of university extension, Massachusetts department of education, is planning to open in the music room of the new Lowell high school, Kirk street, on Thursday evening, March 22 at 7.30 o'clock. The subjects of the course will be different from those which were covered in last year's course. Definite announcement of these subjects will be made at the first meeting of the class.

Mr. Mason will aim by means of lectures on musical subjects to cultivate an intelligent understanding and enjoyment of good music among those who take the course.

Emphasis will be laid on the development of taste and appreciation rather than upon the technical side of music. The course of ten lessons is planned along lines of general cultural training, as it is not the purpose of the course to develop professional musicians, but rather to teach men and women to listen to and appreciate music.

Mr. Mason will give practical illustrations from works of importance in an abundance of musical selections and with their aid will train students in analytical study of masterpieces from the point of view of the listener. He plans to take up the evolution of rhythm, harmony and melody and their powers and offices in musical expression. The lives and best works of great composers will be studied, together with their relation to the progress of musical art.

Mr. Mason has recently received from the French government the decoration of "Palme Academique" in recognition of his attainments as composer, and as interpreter of old and modern French music. Several of his compositions have been produced by musical organizations.

Applications for membership will be accepted at the first meeting of the class on Thursday evening, March 22, at 7.30 o'clock. Only the usual small charge will be made for enrollment.

AWARDED SILVER STAR CITATION

Frank S. Howard of 11 Raymond place is one of 11 Massachusetts men who have just been awarded silver star citations for gallantry in action during the World War. Howard's citation is for gallantry in action near Haumont, France, Oct. 26, 1918. At that time he was a private in Co. C, 124th Infantry, but at the time of his discharge he held the rank of corporal. The citation gives his "present address" as 50 Fifth street, but the directory shows that he is now living in Raymond place. He is employed by J. B. Cover & Co. as a driver.

The citation follows: "Frank S. Howard, corporal, then private, Co. C, 101th Infantry, 26th division. For gallantry in action near Haumont, France, Oct. 26, 1918. In utter disregard of his safety he rescued two men under heavy artillery and machine gun fire carrying them over broken ground to a place of safety where he administered first aid. Present address 50 Fifth street, Lowell, Mass."

The Great Underpriced Basement

SAYS HOLY LAND LACKS FERTILE SOIL

JERUSALEM, March 21.—(By the Associated Press).—Addison E. Southard, American consul here, has just completed an exhaustive survey of the commercial and agricultural resources of Palestine. He has also investigated the subjects of port development, hydro-electric resources, irrigation and banking. In view of the optimistic reports issued by those working to make the Jewish National Home in Palestine a success, it is interesting to note that the American consul entertains serious doubts regarding the agricultural and industrial resources of the country.

"Approximately one-third of the area of Palestine proper," says he, "or roundly 3,000 square miles, is barren land capable of little, if any, agricultural development. Fully an additional fifth of the total area, or more than 2,000,000 acres, has definite agricultural possibilities, but irrigation and other more or less expensive requirements will considerably prejudice the profits to be obtained from farming. The country is sparsely settled, and much of the land has been left fallow for centuries. At the present time the estimated area under cultivation in all Palestine amounts to fewer than 1,000,000 acres."

American business men who recently visited Palestine have found confirmation of Mr. Southard's observations in the great stretches of rocky and barren land. Only in the broader valleys and plains is it at all fertile, and the Arabs, who form 85 per cent. of the population, have a difficult time eking out an existence. It can hardly be expected, therefore, these American travelers believe, that the Jews of the world will be attracted to the so-called "National Home" set up in the Holy Land by Great Britain.

The number of Hebrews who have come to settle here from the United States and other countries is relatively small. Of the 700,000 population of Palestine, only 11 per cent. is Jewish. Those particular callings for which Hebrews throughout all times have shown an especial predilection—clothing, manufacturing, banking, and money-changing—are singularly lacking in the Holy Land. Industrial activity is almost negligible. Fruit-growing and souvenir-making are the principal pursuits.

Most of the Jews who have left America for what they believed to be "The Promised Land" have found life in Palestine difficult and expensive. Many of them have engaged in small farming and fruit culture. Others have set up small retail stores in Jaffa, Haifa and other large towns. The main streets of Jerusalem and Jaffa now resemble busy retail centers in the East side of New York. The Hebrew and English language vie with Arabic as the prevailing tongues in the commercial marts.

"Palestine," says Consul Southard in his report, "is a small country without demonstrated natural resources of any particular importance. Its population is small and will not for some years possess any considerable purchasing power. Within its own limits it will produce or consume little as compared with the average world political or commercial unit."

The consul's statement that the local population neither produce nor consume much explains why the world Jew has such reluctance in colonizing the Holy Land. The Arab population is proverbially poor and produces little beyond a few staples of the farm and vineyard. The Jew, who is essentially a merchant and trader, finds it impossible to live off the Arab, and he finds it equally impossible to exploit his own people.

American visitors usually leave Palestine with the conviction that if it were not for its historical and biblical associations and traditions, the Holy Land would figure little in the world's life. There is a firm belief among disinterested Americans that Great Britain would willingly withdraw if it were not for the security of the Suez canal, which is only 200 miles away.

MEETING OF GRACE CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club of the Grace Universalist church held their monthly meeting last night in the vestry of the church. A roast chicken supper was served at 6:30 o'clock, under the direction of Frank Gilbert and an able corps of assistants and it was nearing 8 o'clock when the tables were cleared. Ora W. Hardy, president of the organization, presided at a short business session following the supper and then introduced a troupe of actors and actresses from the Keith circuit who entertained with a splendid vocal and instrumental concert interspersed with comic and magical performances. Three men and three women made up the team and they work individually and collectively provided one of the best entertainments given before the Men's club.

Philip Snowden's attack on capitalism created extraordinary interest in British commons.

LACK OF COAL KILLS NIGHT LIFE OF BERLIN

BERLIN, March 21.—Night life in Berlin was dealt a hard blow through the recent police regulation prohibiting public dancing, and requiring all cafes to close at 11 p. m.

Many of the dance halls still keep open, and have tried to provide substitutes for cabaret performances, but the would-be merry-makers sit listlessly about and seem to show no interest except when the orchestras strike up dance music, then they wiggle their shoulders, yawn, and move slyly into the dimly lighted streets at 11 o'clock.

Until the Ruhr occupation and the threatened shortage of fuel, cafes were permitted to remain open until one o'clock. That made it possible for theatre crowds to visit the dance halls and cafes after the theatre performances. But now this is impossible, as most of the theatres begin their program at 7.30 or 8.30.

Waiters' organizations are endeavoring to have the theatres open at 6.30, so that the crowds may visit the cafes after the performance and thus prevent thousands of waiters and other cafe employees from losing their jobs.

A new night clubs, or night "lokals," have been organized in remote sections and are endeavoring to provide night life in spite of police regulations. Through waiters in regular cafes they distribute cards giving the address of guides who will find all-night dancing places. These guides, in turn, convey parties to places where other tourists assume the leadership and conduct their patrons to remote halls in the center of blocks where liquor is provided at extortionate rates and the habitués keep their eyes on back stairways through which escape may be made if a raid takes place.

But night clubs do not offer the financial returns they did a few months ago. Tourists are scarce. Foreigners who were in Germany for pleasure have nearly all gone since the French went into the Ruhr. Subway trains all stop before midnight, and consequently Berlin is a dark, dead city after that hour.

FATHER BURNED, BUT HE SAVES BABIES

DANVERS, March 21.—Although his right arm was badly burned, George A. Harrigan of 56 Ash street last night carried his two babies from the blazing house and then, reached seven crows before submitting to medical treatment.

Fire destroyed Harrigan's seven-room farm house, a barn, a shed, a 2½ ton truck, which was loaded with 150 bushels of potatoes, a pump and a number of farm implements. The damage is estimated at $7000. Harrigan was working under a motor truck in his barn by the light of a lantern. In some manner the lantern was tipped over and the flaming kerosene spread over the floor.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Mass meetings in 40 cities will be held April 6, anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the World War, by the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association at which speakers will urge membership of this government in the league.

This announcement was made today on the return from South America of John H. Clarke, former associate justice of the United States supreme court, who resigned from the bench to advocate American participation in the league.

Former Justice Clarke will address the local meeting. He will then start on a tour of the middle west to address meetings of ex-soldiers, farmers, business men, lawyers, women's organizations and labor unions.

Speakers at other of the April 6 meetings, include President Lowell of Harvard, Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, Prof. Manley O. Hudson of Harvard, and President Paunce of Brown university.

WILL ENTERTAIN LAWRENCE AREA

Worthy Vice President Geo. Freeman presided over the regular meeting of the Lowell area of Eagles, which was held last evening in Eagles hall, Harrington building, Central street. There was a large attendance and a list of routine business was transacted. Reports of special and standing committees were submitted and communications as well as from the organization department. The entertainment committee reported that plans are practically completed for a reception to the members of Lawrence area in the near future, and encouraging reports were received from the committee in charge of the big class initiation to be conducted next month.

It was stated that communications had been received from the Worcester degree team and the Attleboro to the effect that both organizations will attend the initiation and plans will be made for a big parade from the aerial hall to the Auditorium on the day of the initiation. It was also stated that the guessing contest in relation to the number of new members to be initiated will close on March 27.

ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF THE LEDGER

A slight increase in the net income of the Lowell district of the Eastern Massachusetts St. Ry. Co., for the month of February, is shown by the report covering operating revenues and expenses out today. The income for the month is given as $258,448.

The total revenue in February was $100,948.24; total operating expenses and taxes, $75,233.78; interest at 6 percent, on cost of property, $22,425.00; total cost of service, $97,658.78; net income, $328,448.

Portland, Me., Man Charged With Conducting Prize Fight

PORTLAND, Me., March 21.—Frank De Rice, who staged the fight last night in which Jeff Smith won a newspaper writers' verdict over Bob Roper, after two six round bouts, was arrested today by a deputy sheriff on the charge of conducting a prize fight.

A sentence of 10 days in jail given in police court, was suspended and De Rice was placed on probation for six months. He appealed the case to the superior court, and gave $200 bail. Sheriff King F. Graham alleges that there is a difference of more than five pounds in the weight of the two men, which under the statutes, classes their match as a prize fight, which is prohibited in Maine.

TO CONSIDER TURKISH COUNTER PROPOSALS

LONDON, March 21.—(By the Associated Press) Representatives of the allied governments are meeting here today to consider the Turkish counter proposals to the Lausanne treaty. The gathering, presided over by Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, is not a formal conference, but rather has as its purpose a preliminary examination of the Turkish reply.

It is understood that after the discussion among the delegates some experts will be appointed to whom different sections of the proposals will be submitted for a report. Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan are the nations directly represented. Considerable interest has been aroused by the announcement that former Premier Venizelos of Greece will be in London during the meeting, not as a delegate, but in order to be available for consultation regarding questions directly affecting Greek interests. It is understood that he was invited by the British government whose guest he will be.

The Long company recently has built a large, up-to-date factory at Worcester. Their former shoe factory at Framingham is now entirely given over to the production of Ray State automobiles, another branch of the Long company's activities.

Mr. Long, president and owner of the concern, has decided to devote his time between his Worcester and Framingham factories, with this end in view, the Long company is selling all their factory branch shoe stores which for years have been famous for low prices.

The Lowell shoe store of the R. H. Long company is located at the corner of Central and Middle streets, and is at present conducting a strenuous sale in an effort to close out the business.

GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost. All ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Adv.

$20,000,000 a Year for 12 Years in Settlement of Cost of Ruhr Army Favored

PARIS, March 21.—(By the Associated Press) Payment of $20,000,000 a year for 12 years to the United States in settlement of the costs of the American army of occupation in Germany, seems feasible, in the opinion of Elliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the American Treasury.

Mr. Wadsworth, who is conferring with representatives of the allied governments on the question of reimbursing the United States for what she expended in the Rhine-watch, told newspapermen that he was awaiting definite information as to the proposed number of instalments their manner of payment, the question of priority and whether America would get a definite percentage of German reparations. He expressed the opinion that the United States would accept only cash payment and that the Washington government would have no part in any step taken by the allies in collecting the money.

ALICE NIELSON, SOLOIST

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA IN SPECIAL PROGRAM

The Boston Symphony orchestra of 101 musicians with its noted conductor M. Monteux and Alice Nielson, one of the most popular of the American prima donnas will again on Tuesday Auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 27, at 8.15 o'clock.

Mr. Monteux has arranged a program for this concert which will be even more popular than the program that was given by the orchestra on its appearance here last fall and will include: Carnival Rhapsody, Schumann's Unfinished Symphony, Esplanade of Chopin, a group of Wagner numbers—Prelude to the third act of Lohengrin.

the Good Friday Music from Parsifal and the Ride of the Valkyries. Alice Nielson will sing both in the first and second parts of the program which will be closed with Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture.

Alice Nielson is one of the few great singers for whom the public feels a personal attachment as well as a keen admiration for her finished art. This is her first appearance in Lowell. She was to have sung here in recital earlier in the season but her engagement was cancelled on account of the illness of Heinrich Gobard, pianist, who was to have appeared with Miss Nielson, who stands today, an artist with all the magnetism and enthusiasm of her early career and with the ripened authority and individuality of one who has felt, reflected and embodied in her expression the knowledge of life, richly lived. Tickets are on sale at Steinhardt's. Telephone 1069.

RIFLES FOR DRILL PURPOSES RECEIVED

Major Colby T. Kittredge, military instructor at the high school, received a shipment of 100 Springfield training rifles today for drill purposes in the regiment. These rifles are exact replicas of the army rifle, the only difference being that they cannot be shot. The rifles weigh only 4½ pounds, compared to the 9 pound rifles which they are displacing.

There are at the present time 525 boys in the regiment, including the band, and the school is equipped with 475 of these new rifles, leaving about 40 who are still compelled to carry the heavy rifle. With the purchase of 40 more the regiment will be uniformly equipped with a modern rifle for their field day exercises.

Two new bugles have also been received recently and now each battalion bugler is furnished with a bugle owned by the school, doing away with necessity of the buglers owning their own instruments.

Under the new system in force in the regiment every officer and non-commissioned officer is compelled to qualify as a marksman, and for this purpose the school is equipped with three 22-caliber rifles or their indoor practice. In addition to the officers, any private who wishes to devote his time to practice may take part in the shooting exercises and learn to become an expert marksman under Major Kittredge's training.

BUICK ENJOYS LONG EXCELLENT RECORD

All indications point to a banner year for Buick according to Fred Emerson of the Lowell Buick Co. The big Buick factories are working right up to capacity turning out both fours and sixes, and if the interest and demand for Buicks that was manifested at the auto show this winter is any indication there will be many new Buicks on the roads this summer.

In speaking of the wonderful Buick record Mr. Emerson says: "Buick reputation has been built on superior engineering and superior manufacture, for these are the things that have given Buick the good qualities that mean so much to the buyer who thinks for himself, who is as cautious in the purchase of a motor car as he is in the making of an investment or the planning of a new house."

"Because experienced buyers realize that past performance is an index to future performance, it is natural for them to select a new Buick. They know that the new Buick is built around the same general principles as the Buick cars of previous years."

No Bootleggers in Local Dance Halls

by the federal court will prevent a repetition of such proceedings. Lowell's dance halls are adequately policed at all times, both by regular officers and also by the policewomen, who see to it that the regulations are respected. Asked for his opinion on the abolition of "pass out" checks, as proposed by The Sun, Mr. Atkinson replied that "it was a good idea." It has been customary at the majority of public dances here, to issue such checks at intermission or other periods, which entitle the bearer to the privilege of returning without extra charge, and it is generally during this time that the "bootleggers" ply their trade. At present, there is no definite set of regulations governing dance halls in Lowell, but the police head stated this morning that the following rules adopted by the licensing authorities in Lynn and which must be strictly complied with under penalty of the suspension or revocation of the license under which the hall is operated, may be applied to Lowell.

The hall must be fully lighted at all times during the dance. Smoking is prohibited except in rooms reserved for smoking. A matron shall be in attendance at all public dances.

Minors under 17 years of age shall be admitted to the dance hall only when accompanied by parent or guardian.

Pass-out checks shall not be issued. Patrons must refrain from indulging in dancing that may be construed as unruly.

Disorderly persons are liable to arrest for "disturbing a public assembly." Dancing must cease at 11 p. m. on Saturdays.

HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT BAND IS MAKING GOOD HEADWAY UNDER PRESENT LEADERSHIP

The High School Regiment band is coming along rapidly under the direction of John J. Gublin, well-known band leader and teacher of cornet, and now consists of 26 pieces, composed of the following: Nine drums, six cornets, five trombones, one piccolo, three clarinets, one alto horn and one saxophone. Each of these instruments, with the exception of the drums, has been furnished by the members of the band, and under Mr. Gublin's direction the boys are fast becoming experienced band men. Rehearsals of the full band are held every Tuesday and the enthusiasm of the members is so great that they are never content to stop rehearsing when their time is up, but urge the leader to try out some new pieces for another hour or so. Since the formation of the band several of the members have started taking private instruction and in many other ways have shown their enthusiasm.

At the present time there is a considerable scarcity of the heavier instruments, none of the pupils being able to purchase them, and an appropriation for their purchase is now being made by the school committee. Several students are taking lessons in the playing of these instruments and will be able to join the band as soon as the purchase is made. Mr. Gublin has made application for 14 instruments, 1 double b. helicon, 1 1/2 flat upright, 2 slide trombones, 2 baritone, 4 altos and 4 trombones. When these instruments arrive, the band will be of 40 pieces, and the leader believes it will be the best of its kind in any high school throughout the country. If the new instruments can be pre-appropriated.

JOHN J. GUBLIN

cured by the first of April, the whole band will be ready to take part in the field day exercises, but without these new pieces the tone of the band will be too light to make a good impression. It is expected that the appropriation will come before the school board at their next meeting and Director Gublin hopes that they will see their way clear to make the

TO IMPROVE BROADCASTING OPERATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Radio experts and government officials began today at the commerce department a two days' conference with the purpose of devising ways and means of improving broadcasting wireless operations. Secretary Hoover, beginning the discussion, said that the failure of regulatory legislation touching wireless in the last congress, made it necessary to see whether by voluntary cooperation and administrative assistance, something could not be done to relieve interference and congestion.

"A year ago we had our first radio conference which drafted legislative proposals that might eliminate these difficulties," Mr. Hoover said. "Today we have an even worse situation, since there are 638 broadcasting stations, and somewhere between 1,500,000 and 2,500,000 receiving stations whose functioning is confined to two wave lengths. We must try and increase the number of channels of communication through the ether, by extending probably the number of wave lengths available to broadcasting."

"As you know the bands of wave lengths between 600 and 1600 metres have been reserved to government use, but the department will recommend to the president that some opening be made in that area by executive order if this conference deems it necessary."

Major General George O. Suter, army representative in the conference expressing the viewpoint of the military authorities said if it was necessary to break into some of the war department's allocated bands, "we ought to take a liberal position."

For the navy, Commander D. C. Bingham presented the view that the protection of broadcasting should not be the only object of regulation.

Hiram Percy Maxim, president of the American Radio Relay league, an amateur organization and Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, secretary of the Institute of Radio Engineers, presented some varying views on the subject.

"Broadcasters," Dr. Goldsmith said, "are really given a franchise to use air which the people own and I consider that such a right ought to be acquired only after the deliberation of a non-partisan body charged with protecting the public interest."

"The only thing that we can do is to learn how to co-operate," Mr. Maxim said. He criticized advertising by broadcasting, declaring that "since we have our magazines, newspapers and billboards, I wonder if advertising should not be confined to its legitimate channel and not thrust upon the overloaded radio."

RADIO SHOW

Interesting Exhibit at Prince's Bungalow Shop Today

Lowell radio fans will be interested to know that today, Thursday and Friday there will be a radio show at Prince's Bungalow Shop, Middle Street, featuring products of the Radio Corporation of America; Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., and General Electric company products. Factory representatives will be in attendance to answer all questions and to impart such information as is necessary not only to the novice but to those who have owned radio sets for some time.

At the store there will be set aside a space necessary for a good display and here a complete line of parts, sets and tubes may be seen. The representatives who are to attend are all conversant with the proper workings of radio and will be prepared to answer all questions bearing on this matter. On one of the afternoons it is also the intention to broadcast a talk by one of these representatives on matters of general interest and information for radio owners.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT IN FOURTH AVENUE

A rather unusual accident occurred in Fourth avenue, Pawtucketville last yesterday afternoon and as a result Louis Belanger, of 22 Cabot street, employed as a teamster for the E. A. Wilson Co., sustained a fractured leg. According to a report submitted at the police station today, a horse owned by the Lowell Fruit & Produce Co., hitched to a delivery wagon driven by Eddie Courtemanche, slipped and fell on the city pavement in Fourth avenue. Belanger, who happened along at that time, volunteered to assist Courtemanche in raising the horse to his feet. No sooner was the horse up than Belanger slipped and fell. The animal again missed his footing and fell over Belanger's leg, fracturing it. The injured man was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital. The horse was again brought to his feet and was able to proceed as he was uninjured.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND
A realism carried to the highest degree is shown in "The Sin Flood," the Goldwyn special being presented for the last time today at the Strand. It's a big picture story and a big production, presented by a big cast, headed by Helene Chadwick and Richard Dix. The humor contained in Charlie Chaplin's newest comedy creation, "The Pilgrim," is the richest of its kind that this star has given the screen. You'll laugh yourself tired at it. Don't miss seeing it.

"Wildness of Youth," a story that reflects in a forceful and convincing manner the 20th century methods of living, with emphasis laid on happiness, is the headliner for the week-end. Virginia Pearson, Harry T. Morey, Mary Anderson, Joseph Striker, Julia Swayne Gordon and others are in the cast. Charles (Buck) Jones in "Bells of San Juan" is the second feature of merit. Both are excellent photoplays.

RIALTO THEATRE

Capacit audiences again visited the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon and last night and greeted Edward Earle, the leading man in the great production, "The Streets of New York," which is opening today the third day of its four-day booking. The production is one of the best of the entire season and hundreds who crowded the opening performances classed it with Griffith's "Way Down East" and "The

M. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Tom Kelly still remains the story teller par excellence. At the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, he is showing off a lot of his newest thumb-nail sketches, and every one of them is guaranteed to bring forth the heartiest kind of laughter. Kelly is one of several who conspire to make the bill one which is alive all the way through. Rose & Moon, in their dancing act, are among the best in their line the season has brought forth. Not only do they dance well, but their arrangements are original and decidedly new. Then there is Thos. J. Ryan, who, with a capable company, gives the latest version of "Mike Hennessey." Ryan can still tap out a jig with the very best of 'em, despite his age. Patricia & Sullivan have a pretty musical turn, and Mober & Eldridge are comedians who are sprightly. The bill opens with Al Libby, in a cycle act, and it closes with the latest Chaplin picture, "The Pilgrim."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "Rich Deeds," the latest Thos. J. Ryan dramatic production, starring Milton Sills, and "The Pilgrim," Charlie Chaplin's latest farce. There will be a complete change of program tomorrow afternoon.

The feature attractions for the week-end will be "Nobody's Money," a new Paramount photoplay, starring Jack Holt, and "Drums of Fate," another big production with Mary Miles Minter in the leading role. Mr. Holt, in the role of a wealthy young man who tries burglarizing for "Drums of Fate," a new Paramount picture featuring Mary Miles Minter, will be the second big attraction for the week-end at the Merrimack Square theatre. Maurice B. Flynn, well known as "Lefty" Flynn, Yale athlete, plays opposite Miss Minter. George Fawcett, Burton Ferguson, Robert Glen, and Burton Grassby have important roles. There will be the usual excellent surrounding program, including a comedy, the Merrimack Square Magazine and other short features.

LOWELL WINS SECOND GAME IN PASSAIC TEAM SETS WORLD RECORD

Shows Way to Worcester in Fast and Exciting Game—Referee Finnell and Goal Tend Conley Clash—Series Now Even-Stephen

The Lowell poloists won over the Worcester Tigers at the Crescent rink last night by the score of 6 to 5, and the victory brought the teams to even terms in the series to determine the National Roller Polo league championship for the season of 1922-1923.

Capt. Harkins and his pals, remembering the way the picture changed in the first meeting of the teams on last Friday night, entered the game with determination to win in every manner. They were out to get the lead and once in the van to remain there until the finish.

The strategy worked to perfection, but the Worcester forces put up a hard battle all the way, and Lowell players and fans did not rest content until the final blast of the horn. When activities ceased and all realized the score for the series stood 50-50.

A great cheer went up, but the Worcester forces put up a hard battle all the way, and Lowell players and fans did not rest content until the final blast of the horn.

For Worcester Jean, as usual, was the star. He worked strenuously on both the defense and offense. He blocked the Lowell rushes and he hammered at the Lowell cage. He took and gave passes in artistic fashion. He was busy as a bee, but the locals nullified his efforts. Pierce worked at top speed all the way, and executed much artistry in the course of the evening.

Lowell launched a terrific attack in the opening half, and the Worcester defense brought about an advantage of 2 to 1. As the second half under way, Jean Williams negotiated a beat. He then tossed the ball to his cage and, after a few minutes, he was back in the game.

As the final session opened, Bob Hart pulled the ball out of a scrimmage and from an almost impossible angle, drove the object into the cage. Steve Pierce, who had been in the cage, got the ball to one side of the Worcester cage. He was in no position to drive for the cage, but he reached over and shot the ball in the general direction of the cage.

Williams on the other side of the rink skated over reaching the mouth of the cage at the same time as the ball. He just kicked it into the cage. It was a play that required rapid thinking and equally rapid execution.

DR. HOWE, COACH OF HARVARD CREW, RESIGNS

CAMBRIDGE, March 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The resignation of Dr. H. Heber Howe, Jr., as director of rowing at Harvard, to become head of a new school in Belmont, became known today.

After coaching the Harvard freshman eight in 1921, Dr. Howe became coach of the varsity crew last season. The Crimson lost all its major races, but it was announced that confidence was felt in the methods of the director who was under a long term contract. For the approaching season Frank J. Muller of Philadelphia was retained to coach the varsity crew, and Bill Haines, the English professional who Dr. Howe had supplanted as head coach of the varsity 15-pound crew, is understood these assignments will continue.

Dr. Howe, a crosswalk, his undergraduate days at Harvard, became master of Middlesex school at Concord after graduation and has since developed many school boys into college crews. Among these was W. P. Miller of Oxford, who is now stroking the New York team, and to add new laurels, Dr. Howe initiated rowing activities under which 682 students rowed regularly under his supervision last spring.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE
On the Lawrence high school football schedule, just announced by Coach Mark Peckham, Lowell is listed for a game in Concord on Oct. 25. Thanksgiving day. The Lawrence schedule is arranged to date, comprises nine games, as follows:

Oct. 12—Boston H. S. of Commerce.
Oct. 20—South high of Worcester.
Oct. 27—At Newburyport.
Nov. 3—At Haverhill.
Nov. 11—At Worcester Commerce.
Nov. 18—Haverhill.
Nov. 25—At Lowell.

The Lowell duo were there in both departments. A moment later an identical play occurred, with players in reverse positions. Williams passed it and Hart kicked it in. Truly two wonderful stunts. The fans were generous in their appreciation of the artistry. At this point Lowell was leading, 8 to 4. The locals, remembering the experience of the last game, played cautiously, and while they failed to again register they succeeded in holding the enemy to one goal, the product of Steve Pierce's hockey. The lineup, score and summary:

POLO NOTES

Even-Stephen.
With the score one apiece, both teams will work as never before in an endeavor to land the goal, which comes on Friday night.

Jettie's goal tending was a big feat. He was hindered by the Worcester defense, but he managed to get the ball into the cage. He was a real star.

Harkins' work at center was a treat. He handled the ball in his usual clever and effective manner, and he also took all kinds of chances going in to repel drives.

Fans greatly enjoyed the little fight between referee Finnell and goal tend Conley. Mossier and Goal Tend Conley, Mossier, who was the referee, and Conley, who was the goal tend, fought a real battle.

Williams and Hart pulled off a couple of real clever pieces of polo artistry. They made a fine team of offensive men.

A large delegation from Woburn, headed by Tommy McDonnell, came to see the game and cheer for their fellow-townsmen, Capt. Ferdie Harkins.

Frank Hardy was a spectator at last night's game. Frank was a member of the Worcester team earlier in the season and played fine polo. He was a real star.

The operation was successful, and while the well known athlete had a long sleep of it, he is now well on the road to recovery. He was greeted by many friends and admirers last evening.

THIRD GAME IN BASKETBALL TITLE SERIES

After suffering two defeats in a row at the hands of the Broadways in the city championship basketball series, the Y.M.C.A. team will enter the cage at the Crescent rink tonight determined to turn back the acre quintet.

The series calls for the best four out of seven games and the Redwires quiet realizes it must win tonight to keep in the hunt for the title.

The two games already played have been close, interesting and well played. The Broadways took the first by the narrow margin of 26 to 25. They captured the second, played a week ago tonight, by the score of 21 to 18. They are out to make it three straight tonight and feel confident of accomplishing their objective.

Joe Foley, who was out of the Broadways lineup a week ago, will be back in the game tonight, and his presence will be a big asset to his team. He is a fine shot, and a very fast foot worker. He plays a solid combination game and can usually be depended upon to land a couple in the last two games.

PASSAIC, N. J., March 21.—After all, the rules necessary for success in life are the same as those essential in turning out a winning basketball team.

How absurdly simple they are, and yet, as friends of Professor Ernest A. Blood, coach of the record-breaking Passaic high school team, point out, how plain, how clear, and—yes, how harsh.

"Prof," as the students affectionately call him, now holds the world's record by having his team of juveniles win 114 consecutive games.

And here are his rules for success—the rules of life interpreted into basketball language:

"Take the offense and put the others on the defense, for the best defense is an offense."

"Pass the ball, don't dribble."

"Get your opponent in chasing you and then he cannot watch the ball."

"Make two baskets to the other team's one."

Those few words, generated into action, did the task that has made "Prof's" fame extend the length of the land.

Coach Blood is not only that. He is

LOW PALUSO COMING EAGAN AFTER WORLD SOX NEED PITCHERS

Secured to Take Shubert's Place in Bout With Newport Johnny Brown

By NEA Service.
NEW YORK, March 21.—Any polo team anxious to be called international champion has to face, at one time or Low Paluso, the Salt Lake City featherweight sensation, has been secured by Matchmaker Dodge of the Moody club to meet Newport Johnny Brown in the main event of his show at the Crescent rink tomorrow night. Paluso, who is now a member of the senior featherweight class, is a New York class, and he justifies his hold of the title, by pointing to his defeat of Charlie Becker in Madison square garden. Later Paluso came to Boston and defeated Red Chapman. He also won a decision over Papper Martin and a draw with Danny Higgins.

Several other clubs in this vicinity have been angling for a Paluso Brown match, and those who have seen both fight against various opponents are that they ought to put up a whale of a battle.

The preliminary card for tomorrow night follows: Nick McDonnell vs. Jimmy Crilly in the semi final, Joe Belmont vs. Arthur Gosselin in one six, and Billy Broderick of South Boston and Johnny McBride of Lawrence in the other prelim.

Boxing fans here and elsewhere throughout New England learned with regret of the death in New Bedford of Al Shubert's sister, a favorite of the noted boxer's family, and particularly attached to her because of the fact that his ring earnings came from her. The shock of the girl's death, followed by the collapse of his mother on Monday, caused Al to request the postponement of his bout with Joe Brown tomorrow night. Shubert said: "I realize it's a severe blow to call off the bout, but I assure you that I am in no condition to proceed. I have never before entered the ring out of condition and I am too old to start before the end brought me to my knees. I naturally could give no time to training for the impending battle. Then to have my brother brought down by a heart attack, and to have him die, is a blow for me. Get someone else, and later I'll go to Lowell and fill the engagement."

Matchmaker Dodge naturally yielded to the request and extended his sincere sympathy to Al and the members of his family. Dodge and promoters in other parts of New England will hasten to join in messages of condolence to the New Bedford favorite. Shubert has been fighting more than a dozen years and in that time has appeared in about every boxing club of note in this section of the country. He has been a champion of the world, and a deep impression has been made by his withdrawal from the bout tonight. It can be considered a disappointment, but under the circumstances, no other move was possible.

The wrestling bouts held here the other evening were among the best staged in this vicinity in some time. The card embraced several notable grapplers and all performed up to the mark. All bouts were run off like clockwork, with everyone advertised to appear being on hand. Local interest centered principally in the work of Stanley Stankis and John Hevles, and Justin Silva, Portuguese giant.

They both won their bouts, and when they challenged each other at the end, the referee, who had been instantly greeted their remarks. Terms were accepted by the pair and they will meet here in the near future.

Jeff Smith won newspaper decision over Bob Roper in 12-round bout at Portland, Me., last night.

Alfred Friedman defeated Spencer Chandler in Boston bout last night.

BOXING ABSORBING TOPIC IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, March 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Boxing is an absorbing topic of conversation in Dublin where the prospect of an early championship bout between Carpenter and Siki is being eagerly discussed. The project has been fully investigated by both promoters and principals and considerable headway is said to have been made.

Both Carpenter and Siki agree that they can hold their eagerly awaited financial bout in Ireland, if sufficient financial inducement is forthcoming.

BOSTON FIREMEN TO HONOR SOUTHWORTH

BOSTON, March 21.—Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn has placed an order for a solid gold fire badge which he will present to Captain Billy Southworth of the Boston Nationals on the opening day of the season at Braves field. The badge will be the gift of baseball players and referees of the fire department in recognition of the charity fight for use of a shell, explaining that they hoped to learn enough about American citizenship to give instruction to Japanese college students when they return. One of the students suggested that steps might be taken to have a Harvard crew to visit Japan within a year or two.

JAPANESE STUDENTS TAKE UP ROWING

CAMBRIDGE, March 21.—Japanese students at Harvard college, seeking to acquire the knack of rowing in an eight-oared shell, were seeking one of their race to complete a crew today. Seven Japanese obtained permission from Coach J. Muller of the varsity eight for use of a shell, explaining that they hoped to learn enough about American citizenship to give instruction to Japanese college students when they return. One of the students suggested that steps might be taken to have a Harvard crew to visit Japan within a year or two.

Boxing fans here and elsewhere throughout New England learned with regret of the death in New Bedford of Al Shubert's sister, a favorite of the noted boxer's family, and particularly attached to her because of the fact that his ring earnings came from her. The shock of the girl's death, followed by the collapse of his mother on Monday, caused Al to request the postponement of his bout with Joe Brown tomorrow night. Shubert said: "I realize it's a severe blow to call off the bout, but I assure you that I am in no condition to proceed. I have never before entered the ring out of condition and I am too old to start before the end brought me to my knees. I naturally could give no time to training for the impending battle. Then to have my brother brought down by a heart attack, and to have him die, is a blow for me. Get someone else, and later I'll go to Lowell and fill the engagement."

Palmer Fire Hearing

Continued

Albert Thompson, Daniel J. Donahue, Joseph P. Donahue and Chief Saunders.

Chief Palmer First Speaker

The hearing got under way at 8:20 o'clock, with Jackson Palmer opening the discussion. He asked that the committee of public safety, which has conducted an investigation of the fire, submit its report.

President Gallagher asked Mr. Palmer if he had attended the hearing conducted by the committee and he replied he had not, for the reason, that he had failed to receive his invitation in time to accept.

Councillor Hennessey, chairman of the committee, said that inasmuch as Mr. Palmer had not been present at the hearing conducted by it, in fairness to him, the committee does not feel a full report is possible or wise at the present time.

It was brought out that on the day the public safety committee visited the scene of the fire the automobiles carrying the councillors were not able to climb the Fairmount street hill and the committee were forced to walk a portion of the distance.

Councillor Daly asked Mr. Palmer if he had any statement to make relative to the conduct of the firemen after responding to the alarm.

Mr. Palmer said the first two streams of water directed toward the fire were pitifully weak, but added that much stronger streams were obtained after pumps were attached to hydrants.

In your opinion, asked Pres. Gallagher, "was the loss of your house due to lack of efficiency on the part of the members of the fire department, or lack of water pressure?"

"I can only say," replied Mr. Palmer, "that there was an utter lack of coordination on the Fairmount street hill at the time of the fire. By that I mean there seemed to be a lack of water pressure, proper engine outlets on hydrants and there were several lengths of apparently poor hose. Whose fault this is I do not know and will not attempt to say."

Councillor Daly asked Mr. Palmer to relate any conversation he had had with the chief at the fire.

"Do you want me to relate the first words I had with the chief?" asked Mr. Palmer.

"Anything which has to do with the use of non-use of pumps," replied the councillor.

"The first thing I said to the chief," stated Mr. Palmer, "was, 'no pump has been connected as yet,' and he replied, 'no the tankhead has not started yet.' The chief referred to I do not know."

In reply to a question by Councillor McPadden relative to anything unusual concerning the actions of the men of the department at the fire, Mr. Palmer said no man of the department had at any time during the fire asked him if all persons had been taken from the house.

Red Sox Staff Must Be Strengthened—Camp Notes

BOSTON, March 21.—The pitching staff of the Red Sox is causing Manager Chance much concern, according to news reaching here from the Hot Springs, Ark. training camp. Mr. Chance asserted that the staff would need considerable strengthening. The 10 pitchers now on the roster will be carried through the training season, and probably during the first of the regular season. In a practice game yesterday, the Yanknians defeated the regulars 12 to 9 in a contest marked by heavy hitting and much heading.

Erratic fielding by Hank Gowdy, Horace Ford and Pitcher Watson was reported from St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp of the Braves. Mr. Chance has been largely responsible for the club's defeat at the hands of the seniors yesterday by a score of 4 to 2.

The squad at San Antonio will be divided today into the first and second teams, though McGraw said this division would not definitely settle the makeup of his actual club.

The Yankees were kept from work at New Orleans yesterday because of the cold. From the Brooklyn camp at Clearwater, Fla., it was reported that Zach Wheat, the veteran outfielder, would report there immediately.

Senators Defend Braves

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Better performance by the Washington pitchers than any yet shown, enabled the American league club to turn the tables on the Boston Braves in their second exhibition game yesterday at St. Petersburg, Fla. Zachary and Brill, while the Braves scored seven hits, while their team-mates were getting their eight safeties of Marquard and Watson when his meant runs.

Prizes in Game

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Manager McKechnie of the Pittsburgh Nationals planned to line up his regular and recruit players today in the first of a series of intra-club games at Hot Springs, Ark., according to advices received here.

Whoever were selected to do mound duty for the Yanknians, while youngsters seeking places on the Pirates roster were chosen to do the hurting for the regulars.

Boxing Tourney For Milk Fund

NEW YORK, March 21.—Preparations for the annual boxing tournament for the municipal milk fund of more importance this year than ever before, were getting into the definite stage today.

Floyd Johnson, the young Iowa heavyweight, has left Hot Springs, Ark., and is expected here tomorrow. Jess Willard, who is attempting a comeback through his match with Johnson, probably will continue to train at Hot Springs, Mo., until shortly before the bout. When the French challenger knuckled out by Champion Jack Dempsey.

The other principal bout of the card is expected to be arranged definitely very soon. An opponent for Luis Angel Firpo, the South American, may be selected today. Bob Roper is understood to have been decided upon as the South American's opponent.

the fire department or the water department, but we do ask for consideration in this most dangerous condition."

Mr. Palmer said he did not wish to go into the matter any further at this time and Pres. Gallagher called on Chief Edward P. Saunders.

Chief Tells His Version of Fire

The chief said the Palmer house was doomed to destruction when the department apparatus arrived. "Mr. Palmer said that to me when I reached the fire," he stated.

"I asked Mr. Palmer what started the fire and he told me rats and matches."

The chief told of the rule in the department which places the first officer to arrive at a fire in full command until a superior officer arrives. He said if a pumping engine had been attached to the hydrant directly opposite the Palmer house, it would have been burnt to a cinder.

"If we had every machine in the department at that fire, it would not have made any difference," declared the chief, "for we could not get enough water."

In reply to a question by Councillor Stearns, the chief said he knows of no way to combat a fire on Belvidere hill, under present conditions, any differently than was possible at the Palmer fire. He said the installation of Laurie hydrants on the hill would give more volume, but not, necessarily, more pressure.

Has Asked For Tractor

Councillor Daly asked Chief Saunders if he has recently requisitioned for a tractor.

"Yes, sir I have," replied the chief. "What has become of it?" asked the councillor.

"I do not know," was the reply. "I have not heard of it since the day the purchasing agent handed it to the mayor."

In reply to another question by Mr. Daly the chief said there is no order in the department which allows only the chief to order pumps used.

Another councillor questioned the chief at length regarding the pressure in hose sufficient to burst it but the latter said he was not sufficiently well versed in hydraulics to properly answer them.

Daniel J. Donahue asked the chief relative to guarantee which accompany all hose purchased and asked if he, as chief, ever has returned any hose which has burst. The chief replied he has not.

On motion of Councillor Sadler, the petition of the residents of Belvidere for an investigation of water conditions and property saving apparatus was referred to the committee on public safety.

The hearing was declared closed at 8:30 p. m.

BRITISH PLANS FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

LONDON, March 21.—The British are rapidly rounding out their plans for the Olympic games at Paris next year, and more than one fourth of the proposed fund of £30,000 for support of the team has been raised.

The end of the Kingdome is helping to foot the bill. In past Olympics the meagre success of British athletes was attributed in part to a delay in preparation, but this year the British intend to profit by their mistakes. Each town of 5000 population has been asked to contribute at least £10 to the fund. Before this appeal went out, London had subscribed £6000.

WILL FORM JUNIOR TWILIGHT LEAGUE

At a meeting of the managers and captains of 18-year-old baseball teams in the Y.M.C.A. last evening, tentative plans for the formation of a Junior Twilight league were formed. It is planned to have eight district leagues for four teams each, these teams to play for the championship of their respective league, and the champion teams to play semi-final or elimination games to determine the individual champion outfit. The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 27. All teams wishing to send representatives are invited to send 20.

RUSSIAN STATE BANK
VERITABLE GOLD MINE

MOSCOW, March 21.—Ten million dollars worth of gold, in Russian rubles and glistening ingots of bullion, are heaped up in the treasure vaults of the Russian State bank, the results of one year's activities of this Soviet financial institution.

Twelve months ago it started doing business with a capital of depreciated paper rubles. Russian bankers, who never hesitated to take big profits, and urged along the same lines by the national necessity to accumulate real money, the bank has been adding daily to its reserve fund.

An American, for example, takes a perfectly good check for $500 to this bank to be cashed. He wants an hour and receives a slip of paper bearing calligraphic figures showing that the cashier will hand him $475 for the check. Thereupon he can easily understand how some of these profits have been made. The state bank has a monopoly on foreign exchange, but it will pay in actual American or English currency for the check it receives, and the average foreigner much prefers to pay five per cent and receive real money, instead of an armload of Soviet paper.

Another advantageous practice of the bank is to change dollars into rubles, paying practically the same rate as the money changers on the illegal bourse. The difference may be only a few thousands rubles on the dollar, but it is enough to add to the constant trickle of profits to the state bank's till.

At the beginning of 1922 it was estimated that about 300,000,000 gold rubles were still in the hands of the peasants and other private persons in Russia, having been buried or stowed away in old socks against a rainy day. The opening of legal banking operations, and the frank winking on the part of government authorities at operations on the so-called illegal bourse, have coaxed many millions of this gold from its hiding places. A considerable portion has found its way to the State bank, which sends its own agents to these illegal bourses and offers for this gold, and for foreign currency, higher prices than the private traders can afford. For this the bank, of course, pays only paper money of which it seems to have an inexhaustible supply.

MIRTH IN COURT
AT LEWIS TRIAL

Former Lawyer Charged With
Larceny of $2150 From
Ayer Couple

Wife of Accused Man Insists
on Telling Varied Qualities
of Mop

BOSTON, March 21.—A woman witness, who insisted on telling in great detail of the many and varied qualities of a patent mop, together with a dear defendant who acted as his own lawyer, kept spectators in the upper or criminal court, East Cambridge, in a state of hilarious mirth yesterday afternoon, caused court officers to threaten several times to clear the court room and brought alternate smiles and frowns to the faces of Judge Sisk and Assistant District Attorney Bushnell.

The defendant is Edwin C. Lewis, a disbarred lawyer, who formerly lived in Brighton, now a resident of Ayer. He is being tried on a grand jury indictment charging him with the larceny of $2150, through false pretenses, from Abbie and Charles J. Wilson of Ayer.

The commonwealth alleges that Lewis induced Mrs. Wilson to purchase for $2000 a one-eighth interest in a mop manufacturing business. Mr. Wilson, according to the allegations, was promised the position of packer and shipper for the mop company, and Mrs. Wilson was promised a $5000 or $7000 share of an estimated yearly profit of $75,000.

Mortgaged Home to Get $2000

The Wilsons raised the $2000 by mortgaging their home. They renovated a shed so that it might be used as a mop manufacturing plant. When the money was paid over to Lewis and the shed was ready, it is alleged, Lewis refused to proceed with the manufacture of the mops there on the ground that the neighbors were jealous and would burn the shed down.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson testified to meeting Mr. and Mrs. Lewis for the first time in September, 1921. Mr. Wilson said that Lewis painted in glowing colors the money-making possibilities of the mop business and mentioned as customers already obtained several big railroads, the Charlestown navy yard and the state house.

In April, 1922, the witness said, Lewis informed him that he (Lewis) didn't have an automobile, he couldn't start the mop business because an automobile was necessary to deliver the mops. Wilson said that Lewis was given another $100 to get an automobile with, but he didn't get the machine.

Lewis attempted to cross-examine the witness, but had considerable difficulty due to the fact that he couldn't hear the witness's replies. Mrs. Lewis frequently interrupted with loud whisperings in her husband's ear as to questions.

During the cross-examination Wilson lost control of himself and leaning far out of the witness box shouted at Lewis: "You bunce me."

Mrs. Lewis Testifies

The only witness called for the defense was Mrs. Corine Lewis, wife of the defendant. She had in absolute disregard for the questions asked by Asst. Dist. Atty. Bushnell. She answered when she was so inclined and at other times told Atty. Bushnell that it was none of his business.

Frequent admonitions from Judge Sisk had no effect on the woman who stated that she didn't care whether the judge and district attorney believed her testimony or not.

"I suppose you want the truth," she cried, "and if you do I'll give it to you."

In response to questions, the answers to which could have been confined to "yes" or "no," Mrs. Lewis disregarded the judge's and district attorney's orders to stop talking and rattled for minutes at a time the qualities of the patent mop.

Mrs. Lewis prefaced a remark to the effect that she was just a plain ordinary woman, by stating that her first husband was a cousin of the late President Cleveland and that she was related to the man who gave the town of Ayer to Massachusetts.

According to Mrs. Lewis's testimony, her husband's mop was known from coast to coast and from the Mexican sands to the Canadian borders.

One western business man wanted to buy it, but as she (Mrs. Lewis) is a "Massachusetts girl," her husband decided not to sell, but to come back here and manufacture it, she said.

Asked how long she and Lewis had been married, she answered that it was none of the district attorney's business. Almost in the next breath, she said that she ought to know the kind of a man her husband is because she has been living with him for 26 years.

She said her husband had in no way

used coercion in getting the $2150 from the Wilsons.

Mrs. Lewis said that the Wilsons freely gave $150 to Mr. Lewis, telling him to purchase the automobile whenever he got ready to.

Had Factory Here, She Says

In response to questions as to whether or not any of the mops had ever been manufactured by her husband, Mrs. Lewis said that thousands had been and that $30,000 had been spent in exploiting the handy household implements. She said that the mops were made on hand-looms and that she and her husband once conducted a factory for their manufacture on Wareham street, Boston.

Under cross-examination the woman couldn't remember when it was that the Wareham street factory had been operated, she couldn't remember how many looms they had when they got the Wilsons' money, she couldn't remember where the looms were, then or where they are now.

The taking of evidence was concluded yesterday afternoon. This morning District Attorney Bushnell and Mr. Lewis will present their final arguments to the jury.

About 10 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were living on Waverly avenue, Newton, when a writ of ejectment from the house in which they were living was served on Mr. Lewis by a Middlesex deputy sheriff. When the time limit of the writ was up the deputy sheriff telephoned Mr. Lewis, saying that he was about to see that the writ was enforced.

It is said that Mr. Lewis replied that if the deputy sheriff came to the house he would see the biggest tragedy that ever took place in Newton.

The deputy sheriff went to the house and in his presence Lewis slashed his own throat with a razor from ear to ear.

Combat the Film Tonight

Watch how your teeth improve

Millions have already done that. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now show the results that come.

Start now to fight that film on teeth. Do it to be dainty, to be safer. Do it because dentists the world over advise it. Do it for your sake and your family's sake. Learn what this method does.

Film—your great enemy

Film is the great tooth wrecker—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. Those thin coats dim the luster of the teeth.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why tooth troubles were almost universal.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

Two new discoveries

Dental science has in late years found two

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

ways to fight that film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. These two film combatants were embodied in it for daily application.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Careful people of some 50 nations now employ it, largely by dental advice.

Other essentials

Other effects were found to be essential. So Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus Pepsodent gives manifold power to these two great tooth-protecting agents. These combined results are bringing, the world over, a new conception of clean teeth.

Go prove it now

Go get this free tube and watch the change it brings. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

C. M. A. C. Plans Extensive Additions and Alterations To Its Club Building In Pawtucket Street; Blackall, Clapp and Whittemore, Architects

HOW ENLARGED AND BEAUTIFIED C. M. A. C. BUILDING WILL LOOK AFTER RENOVATIONS

The C.M.A.C. will remodel its club building in Pawtucket street and the cost of the alterations will be between $50,000 and $75,000. As soon as plans are completed, and this will be in the near future, bids will be called for and it is expected work on the building will be started before the warm weather sets in.

The plans for the improvements, which have been prepared by Blackall, Clapp and Whittemore, Boston architects, were adopted at a largely attended meeting of the organization, which was held last evening with Mrs. Donat J. Bruneau in the chair, after all explanations concerning the plans had been given by Clarence H. Blackall.

In addition to accepting the plans as submitted by the architects, the members of the association also appointed a committee to devise ways and means for the raising of funds to defray the cost of the improvements. This committee consists of Joseph L. Lamoureux, chairman, Representative Henry A. Allen, Albert J. Hizon, Edmund N. Foley, and Ralph Parady. It was learned today that some members of the committee favored the issuing of bonds at interest to members of the association, while others were in favor of organizing a drive throughout the city. The matter will be settled, however, at a meeting of the committee to be held some time next week.

It will be remembered that a few months ago the association purchased the six-story building adjoining its present quarters in Pawtucket street at a cost of $15,000, and the plans as submitted by Architect Blackall consist of changing over the entire front of the old clubhouse and the newly acquired building and to build an addition between the two buildings, connecting both structures. The front of the buildings, which are now of wood, will be changed over to cast stone for the first story and brick for the other stories. The main entrance to the building will remain where it is presently located, but will be changed over to Colonial style with large pillars. Over the windows of the street floor on the new building will be set two steel verandas for flowers or other ornaments.

The basements of both buildings will be made into one and therein will be installed a large swimming pool with running water. Three more bowling alleys will be installed, thereby doubling that amusement space, while shower baths and dressing rooms will also be installed.

On the street floor will be a large reception room. The billiard and pool space will be doubled and the card room will be greatly enlarged. There will also be five offices for officers of the society on this floor. The assembly hall, which is now on the second floor of the old building, will be allowed to remain there, but will be rearranged as to also serve as a large gymnasium. On the second floor of the new building there will be a small assembly hall for society meetings, as well as a large check room, library and committee rooms. The third floor of the new building will be taken up with a small gymnasium, shower baths and dressing rooms.

Arthur L. Eno, chairman of the building committee, which has been empowered to proceed with the calling of bids and the granting of the contract, stated today that the committee has decided not to confine the bidding to Lowell contractors, but to allow any contractor from any part of the country to submit bids, and as soon as the plans are fully completed by the architects a call will be sent out for bids, as it is being planned to execute the improvements as quickly as possible.

The present building of the C.M.A.C. was erected in 1900 and has served the purpose up to this time, but the quarters are now inadequate for the membership, which numbers over 1300. The old building is paid for, the mortgage on the property having been burned some five or six years ago, while the society paid spot cash for the recently acquired property. There is a substantial sum in the treasury and a member of the finance committee stated this morning that if it should be decided to issue bonds, the society could look after that end without selling bonds to its members.

The building committee, which called for plans and which will have the supervision of the remodeling, consists of Arthur L. Eno, chairman; Dr. O. Laville, Albert Bergeron, secretary; Joseph A. Legare, J. A. N. Chretien, Joseph A. Desrochers and Donat J. Bruneau, ex-officio.

The local bleaching industry, giving employment to Lowell workers.

Plenty of Sunlight

When the present work on the drying department structural plan is completed, there will be innovations of the plant ideal for all future local operations of the Lowell Bleachery. There will be plenty of sunlight for the workers, with new skylights in profusion. Several interior walls will be removed to make the drying quarters more ample and satisfactory for turning out work speedily when needed.

The fact that this expansion comes to Lowell at this time indicates that the Bleachery management has no idea of abandoning operations here, and the fact that the concern is at this time also investigating various details looking to the provision of new work for the local plant, is an indication of prosperous times in the local bleaching section as well as in the south.

Plant Improvements

The work of improving facilities at the Carter street plant last year was performed without any heralding of the fact. Nothing that has been accomplished in expenditure of money in Lowell has done more for the improvement and well being of the Carter Street Bleachery than the installation last season of the immense water-holder of cement and capable of storing many thousands of gallons of water, where, after being taken from the Concord, it is allowed to stand and "drain" free from impurities, before use.

Machinery Made Here

An interesting feature of the new plant and its machinery equipment is the fact that a great deal of the new machinery is being constructed right here in Lowell, in the machine shops of the Carter street plant of the corporation, and is being shipped in carload lots to Experiment, where Lowell workers are engaged in erecting the machines and adding to the production room preparations following the blueprints. The knowledge of the Lowell workers who are selling bonds to its members.

The building committee, which called for plans and which will have the supervision of the remodeling, consists of Arthur L. Eno, chairman; Dr. O. Laville, Albert Bergeron, secretary; Joseph A. Legare, J. A. N. Chretien, Joseph A. Desrochers and Donat J. Bruneau, ex-officio.

Shipments of the Lowell-made machinery from the Carter street machine shops are now going forward. Another shipment is proposed today and is ready for movement to Experiment.

HEALTH BOARD INSPECTS ISOLATION HOSPITAL

The board of health is inspecting the isolation hospital today in an attempt to ascertain how the institution may be operated this year within its appropriation, which, as it now stands, is $23,202 or a reduction of nearly $13,000 from the estimated submitted.

The board does not know the manner in which reduced operating costs may be obtained, but feel obliged to arrange and regulate its upkeep and maintenance charges so as to live within the money at its disposal.

The hospital last year spent $50,014, against an appropriation of $50,387 and for 1922 asked for $66,012.92. The budget and audit commission reduced this figure to $61,500, but the mayor cut it to $53,202.30. The city council was inclined to allow the total of the budget commission, but the mayor did not feel any additional money necessary.

PURIFY YOUR SLUGGISH BLOOD

In Winter you eat freely of rich, heavy foods and do not get enough outdoor exercise. As a result, your blood is impure and sluggish when spring comes. You feel dull and sleepy, have no energy or ambition, and are easily tired.

Don't drag yourself around in that half-alive way all the spring. Begin today to take Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the most widely used and effective of all spring tonics. Your druggist has it, in both liquid and tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Tonic and Blood Enricher

Your own doctor will approve of this principle— The only way to relieve constipation permanently

Seventy-five millions of dollars spent last year for cathartics and purgatives! Yet such drugs not only cannot cure constipation—they actually increase the trouble.

At last we are realizing that only by strengthening the weakened intestinal muscles and gently encouraging them to act themselves can we get rid of constipation and all the ills which come from it.

That is why so many physicians and hospitals are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast today. Every cake consists of millions of tiny living plants, which soften and increase the bulk of our concentrated modern diet, and gently encourage the muscles to do their work.

Every such action of the intestines gives the muscles normal, natural exercise and so gradually trains them back to healthy activity. Your own physician will heartily endorse this principle as the only way to relieve and permanently.

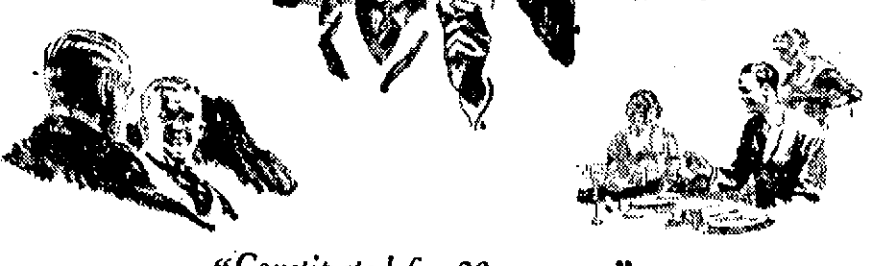

Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast—yeast in its natural fresh form. Recent experiments have shown that yeast corrects constipation only when its cells are alive and active, and that it loses its laxative effect when these cells are "killed" and dried.

Thousands of men and women the country over are eating Fleischmann's Yeast regularly—and finding it the key to such health and vigor as they have never known. Only a body kept free of poisons can enjoy the vigorous health which is every human being's birthright.

Fleischmann's Yeast is in no sense a purgative, and produces no immediate violent action. It is a nourishing food—not a digestion-disturbing medicine—and like any other food, it must be eaten regularly to secure results. Eat two or three cakes a day—plain or dissolved in water, milk or fruit juices—preferably half an hour before a meal or the last thing at night. Get several cakes at a time—they will keep several days in a cool, dry place. Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast! All grocers have it.

Send for free booklet, "The New Found Value of Fleischmann's Yeast in Building Health." The Fleischmann Company, 701 Washington Street, New York.

"Constipated for 20 years—"

A man in Stratford, Conn., had long been troubled with constipation and boils. "I have had to take physics for the last 20 years once a week" he writes. "I started to take yeast about two months ago and I am as regular as clockwork without physics ever since and my face is perfectly clear."

DUG UP NEW CHARTER CLAUSE

Provision Unearthed by Councilor Delays Action on Salary Ordinance

Spectators Disappointed at Council Meeting—No Action on 1923 Budget

President James J. Gallagher of the city council last night dug up a charter provision that few, if any, of his brother councilors knew existed, and as a result no action was taken upon the salary ordinance returned unsigned by Mayor John J. Donovan, accompanied by a communication stating his reasons for vetoing it.

The provision in question is a part of Section 56 of the charter and says: "If the city council, notwithstanding such disapproval of the mayor, shall again pass such order, ordinance, resolution or vote by a two-thirds vote of all its members, it shall then be in force, but such vote shall not be taken for seven days after its return to the city council."

This seven-day clause was not generally known and blocked all action just at a time when the spectators were up on their toes in anticipation of following the roll call vote on the question of passage over the majority veto.

With this postponed action, the budget for the year could not be passed, for the salary question must be settled simultaneously.

The business meeting of the council concerned itself principally with routine matters, although loan orders to the amount of $30,000 were passed. These orders cover the following projects: Completing first street extension, $21,000; acquiring land on Richmond avenue for playground purposes, $35,000; widening of corner of Hall and Allen streets, $30,000; new fire engine house at Rogers and Fairmount streets, $35,000.

The night of Tuesday, April 3, was set as a time for a public hearing on the proposition advanced by Councilor Cosgrove to acquire land in vicinity of Washington Tavern site for the erection of buildings to house the headquarters of the fire, police, health and ambulance departments.

Meeting in Detail

The committee on roads and bridges submitted its report relative to loans for street paving work for 1933, approving all loans suggested and recommending the board of public works, with the exception of the proposal to pave the new street railway loop in Paige, French and Brookings streets.

The committee on finance reported and recommended the passage of the following loans:

First street extension, $21,000; acquiring land in Richmond avenue for playground purposes, $35,000; widening of corner of Hall and Allen streets, $30,000; for erection of fire engine house at Oaklands square, $35,000.

On the proposal to spend $30,000 for acquiring land in Church and Central streets for the erection of Washington Tavern site, for the fire, police, health and ambulance departments, the committee recommended a public hearing.

The first street loan and the loan for acquiring land in Richmond avenue were approved unanimously, and the order calling for the widening of Hall and Allen streets was passed, 12 to 2, with Councilors Chadwick and Hennessey dissenting.

Councilor Guest asked for more time on the loan of $35,000 for the erection of a fire engine house at Rogers and Fairmount streets, but Councilor McAdams told no delay should be countenanced as the need is urgent. The order then passed by a unanimous vote.

The council approved a loan order in the sum of $700, awarded by the court as judgment in a case brought by the Standard estate relative to taking land at Washington park in 1921. This represents an amount equal to 25 per cent above the assessed valuation.

Frank Hoyt, captain of Engine 3, fire department, a member of the department since 1875, petitioned for retirement on pension.

Under a suspension of the rules, the retirement order was passed.

A communication was received from Mayor John J. Donovan, stating he did not feel any more money should be allocated certain departments under discussion. It was placed on file without comment.

Pres. Gallagher read the mayor's communication which accompanied his veto of the 1923 salary ordinance. The president said no action on the ordinance could be taken by the council for seven days after date of receipt.

The following names of men were drawn to serve as traverse jurors at the term of the superior court, opening at Cambridge on the first Monday in April:

William Stafford, 737 Moody, clerk; John J. Burgess, 3 Cedar court, water works; George F. Deane, 521 Dunton street, metal works; Geo. E. Marchand, 15 Harding street, auto accessories; Willis J. Pelletier, Jr., 803 Moody, jeweler.

Five additional names were drawn as follows:

William J. Gierhart, 43 Forrest, clerk; James F. Gierhart, 43 Forrest, clerk; John Pelletier, 533 Lakeview, auto mechanic; Stephen C. Wyman, 182 Stackpole street, city library; Daniel Sullivan, 195 Moore, merchant.

A third venire, calling for seven jurors, resulted in the following names being drawn from the box:

Percy H. Moore, 45 Lakeview, auto mechanic; Dennis J. Moran, 17 Burlington, clerk; Joseph J. Carrozzini, 118 Ennall street, musician; Maurice Lemplun, 5 Hampshire, dealer; Henry A. Smith, 42 Mansur, insurance; Frank B. Fitzgerald, 1121 Lawrence, clerk; John S. Cutler, 840 Vermont, auto, barber.

The date of April 3 was set as a time for hearing on the Washington Tavern proposition.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Lowell Commandery Officers
Installed by Grand Officers
From Boston Councils

Odd Fellows' hall, Middlesex street, was the scene of an impressive ceremony last night when the officers of Lowell Commandery, Knights of Malta, were installed by a team composed of grand officers of greater Boston councils. The installing team was composed of Deputy Commander John P. Dickson, Grand Capt. Joseph Winn, Grand Proctor Thomas J. Bryant, Grand Warden G. Washburn and Grand Herald Ortho Washburn, all of greater Boston.

The officers sworn in last night for the coming year are as follows: C. S. Yeomans, commanding knight; H. O. Douglas, generalissimo; J. P. Fison, captain general; Henry Gore, prelate; H. Kershaw, senior warden; J. Walton, junior warden; Harry Barrows, standard bearer; E. Peasley, sword bearer; A. West, warder; and W. Bowles, sentinels.

Following the installation Grand Commander Dickson addressed the gathering, after which the officers of the commandery were expected to return to Lowell in May to form a "77," one of the shrinal ceremonies of the order.

A business session was held prior to the installation at which Past Commander Walter Lavell presided. It was voted to have all the past commanders meet at the Malta club to organize a "Green Cross Club," the members of which will be formally received at special sessions in Boston.

SHORT HONEYMOON FOR THIS PAIR

Married but seven weeks, and dissatisfied with the information gained in the district court this morning when a young man was called to answer a charge of assault and battery, a wife testified on the witness stand that her husband took a day off yesterday and celebrated his self-appointed holiday by abusing her unmercifully, pulling her hair and otherwise subjecting her to alleged brutal treatment. As evidence of the hair-pulling, she exhibited a bank of hair in the courtroom this morning.

According to the wife's testimony, the fight started yesterday morning when man in the case arrived home and requested her to loan him some money. Suspicious that he wished it for gambling purposes, she refused and went into another room to escape his insulting epithets. Friend husband followed and began pulling at her hair and beating her with his fists. On the other hand, the husband testified that he always brought home his unopened pay envelope and gave it to his wife, and that she repeatedly refused to allow him a small sum for spending money. He further stated that he was asked if he was willing to give him another chance, and the wife replied in the affirmative and the court thereupon imposed a sentence of three months to the house of correction, suspended for one year.

MEETING OF THE LICENSING BOARD

Besides the routine business transacted at last night's meeting of the licensing commission, an interesting hearing on a complaint charging Andrew Dubals, of 444 Market street, with permitting gaming on his premises, was heard, and after reprimanding the defendant and discussing the matter in executive session, the complaint was ordered placed on file.

Sgt. Michael Winn of the liquor and vice squad was responsible for the filing of the complaint which arose from the arrest, last Saturday night, of Dubals and several other countrymen on charge of being present where gaming in progress was being held. The complaint was filed in the district court Monday morning and was filed $5 each on a plea of guilty to the offense. Dubals, proprietor of the establishment, was fined $10. At the hearing last night Dubals contended that he was unaware of any gaming in his place.

The petition of Myer Siegel for a junk dealer's license, with headquarters in Tanager street, was granted. Mr. Siegel previously petitioned for a license in Plain street, which met with strenuous objection on the part of residents in the vicinity.

Other licenses granted were: Sterling B. Crosby, 11 Central street, and Conner's license; Ira Brody, 7 Merrimack, auctioneer; Grace Harrow, 379 Middlesex, lodging house; Maria A. Rodriguez, 39 Tyler, lodging house; Alfred J. Marcotte, 89 Arch, ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day; J. J. Henry, ice cream, confectionery, etc., on Lord's day; Frank P. Green, Western avenue and Fletcher street, common victualer; Julius Perlman, 179 Howard, junk dealer; Costa Stergios, 81 Dummer, coffee house; William H. Sullivan, Crescent street, wrestling bouts.

The following surrender and cancellations were read: John H. Flynn, 23 Lakeview avenue, retail vendor of soft drinks; J. Romeo Hebert, 750 Lakeview avenue, retail vendor of soft drinks; John Jones, 81 Dummer, coffee house; John J. Henry, 32 Anderson, ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day.

NEW SERVICE OF INJUNCTION

New service of an injunction brought by Dennis E. Connors and others against the city of Lowell in an attempt to restrain any further payment of money to the Engineering Service and Construction Co., under its contract to reconstruct Central bridge, was made upon Mayor John J. Donovan, City Treasurer Fred H. Bourke and City Auditor Daniel E. Martin today by Sheriff Bernard E. Gately.

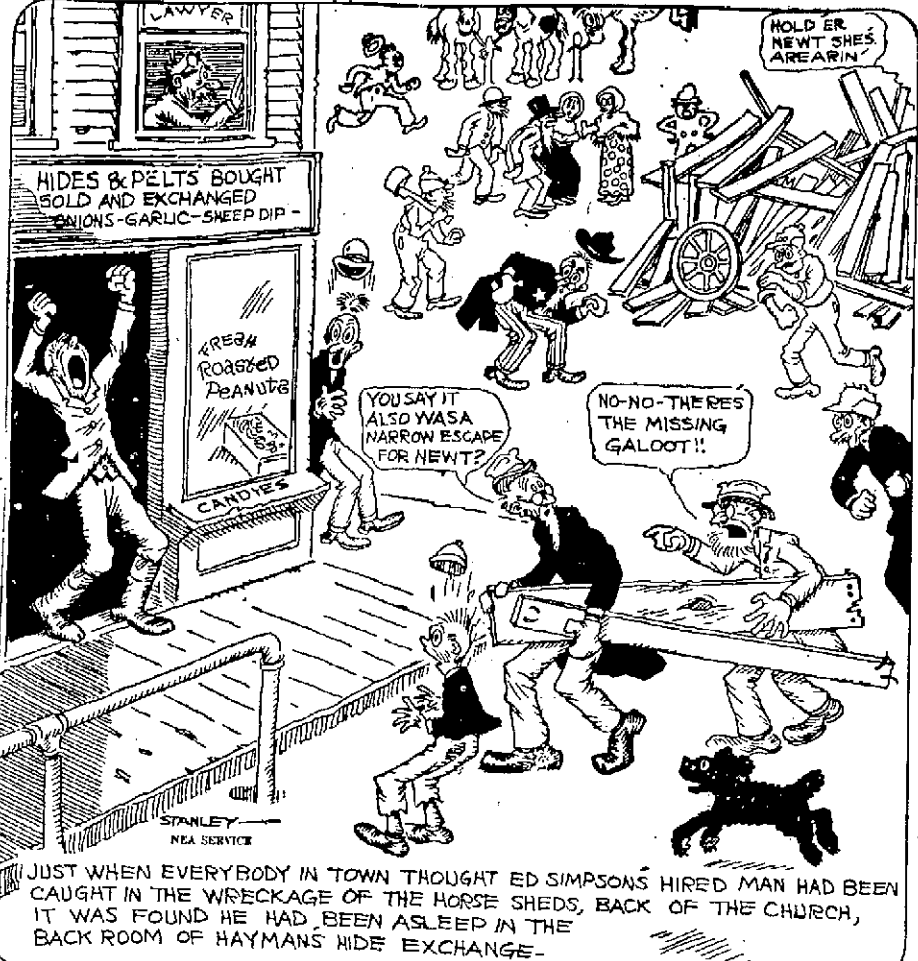

This service is the result of the court's direction to have new orders of notice issue, returnable in the supreme court of Suffolk county, next Tuesday, March 27, at 9:30 a. m.

TO SETTLE THE RUHR DISPUTE

PARIS, March 21. (By the Associated Press).—A definite move by labor and socialist parliamentary groups to request the British, French, Belgian and Italian governments to place the Ruhr situation in the hands of the League of Nations, was foreshadowed today following a conference of delegates representing these political factors in the several belligerent bodies.

Spokesmen of the British laborites and the French, Italian and Belgian socialists, deciding that a settlement of the controversy could only be effected "through American intervention" or a decision of the League of Nations, came to the conclusion that the question of league assistance should be brought up in the British house of commons and in the chambers of the other governments.

Accordingly, J. Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, M. Van der Meulen of Belgium, Signor Modigliani of Italy, and Paul Boncour of France were delegated to carry out the wishes of the conference.

In an endeavor to provide their governments with additional information on the general situation a sub-committee of the conference will make a survey of both the Ruhr and occupied Germany, seeking data bearing on the whole reparations issue.

The delegates put themselves on record as believing that "a fatal crisis" in the Ruhr will be a serious blow to Europe's peace. The governments interested, they decided, must set policies aside "so that a modus vivendi may be reached."

COTTON MANUFACTURERS

National Association Will Hold Its Spring Meeting in Providence

Notices have been received in Lowell by textile executives calling attention to the spring meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, to be held at the Baltimore hotel, Providence, April 21-26.

Foreign markets for cotton goods and the subject of raw material are matters which will absorb attention at this convention. There will also be a "smoker," an old-fashioned Providence river clam bake with recent park trimmings, and also visits to Rhode Island industrial plants and technical meetings and discussions.

On Tuesday, April 24, at 11 a. m., there will be reports of the secretary, treasurer and committees made. The second session will be held on the same day at 2:30 p. m., when the general topic will be "Export Markets." W. Irving Ballard will also speak on "Brazil: The Promising Land." John S. Lawrence will deliver a lecture on "World Markets."

At 8:30 p. m., a smoker will be held. Wednesday morning, at 10, officers and directors will meet for the present year and the report of the resolutions committee made. The meeting will then turn into a session for the discussion of cotton.

A. H. Stone will talk on "Co-operative associations" and W. L. Clayton on "Cotton Marketing." A technical session will be held at 7 p. m., when addresses will be made by the president and Dr. S. W. Stratton.

Thursday morning, the delegates will visit to various industrial plants in Providence, under the direction of the Rhode Island Textile association and the Southern New England Textile club. The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will also hold an important meeting.

CASE IS CONTINUED

On petition for the appointment of receivers for the L. R. Steel company, Inc., of New York, asked by the National Toy & Thiel company, of Wisconsin, for the Massachusetts holdings of the Steel company, consisting of stores in Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill, Federal Judge Anderson in Boston yesterday, continued the case until April 16. There were two previous hearings, on March 8 and March 14. At the latter Judge Anderson put off temporarily the matter of appointing the receivers for this jurisdiction and suggested that the parties get together and make an effort to devise some plan which will be an improvement on the proposed receivership.

LECTURE AT STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

The first in a series of six spring lectures on the subject of "Adapting the Curriculum to Changing Social Needs" was given this afternoon at the State Normal school by Dr. William R. Aspinwall of the State Normal school in Worcester.

Dr. Aspinwall's subject was "Making Life a Living School." He spoke on the basis of the curriculum.

The lecture was given in the assembly hall to an audience of about 200 pupils and guests. At the close of the lecture Dr. Aspinwall was awarded a vote of thanks by the students of the school for his very interesting and educational talk.

The next lecture of this series will be given at the school next Wednesday by Miss Emma Ramsey of the Lowell Normal school. Her subject will be "The Project Method as a Means of Adapting Instruction to Present Needs." These lectures are open to the public and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend any or all of them.

DEATH STILL A MYSTERY

NEW YORK, March 20.—Twisting trails, leading out of the shadows, cast by the confusing beacons of Broadway, were taken today by detectives hunting for the murderer of Dorothy Keenan, the model whose death by chloroform poisoning last Thursday still remains a mystery.

Police Inspector Coughlin was expected information today from Chicago about Jack Lannigan, whom he asked the police there to look up. The police have heard he returned from Chicago three weeks ago and, after quarreling with Miss Keenan, left in a hurry.

The inspector said he would like to know what they quarreled about. The theory persisted in police circles that Miss Keenan was chloroformed to death because she refused to deliver up a man within her power to "badger game" players. It was not even established that "Marshall," whose identity seems to have kept him from telling his name to any person but Miss Keenan's colored maid, was the prepared victim. There were other alibis of wealth, one of whom penned endearing letters to her. "Marshall" is said to have written her no letters.

That the murderer fought to live was asserted by William Bradford, the maid, she denied the police statement, that the girl's body bore few bruises, declaring it was battered and contorted.

Present Needs. These lectures are open to the public and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend any or all of them.

Miss Spring Arrived This Morning—Old Man Winter Kicks Out

J. Joseph Hennessey, Esq., Talks on Necessity of New District Court

Spring! The merry youngster arrived promptly at 4.40 this morning. Sunshine was out of the bag. Old winter had its final fling last night, with obsequies scheduled for this a. m.

Fair and warm is the weather forecast for today, with spring leading the way. Tomorrow it will continue warm, but unsettled conditions are coming and rain may be expected by night-fall.

The whither that has now vanished over the hills and far away was both consistent and abnormal in some respects. There were few lapses during the grand rush to make new records in snow-fall and frigidities.

Mean temperatures for the months of November, December, January, February and March, to date, show that the temperature has been almost exactly normal, however, and that it has never been excessively cold. The average temperature for November was 43.8, normal 41.0. For December the present average was 30.3, normal 31.5. January's average was 27.0, while the normal is 27.8. February's temperature was 23.4, close to normal, which is 23.8.

Expert weather bureau men say the winter's actual measured snowfall was only 68.8 inches, but it seemed a whole lot more. The figures are taken from records running from November 1 to yesterday. Most of the snow came in January. By months, the official fall was as follows:

November 9 of an inch, December 14.4 inches, January 23 inches, February 11.4 inches, March, so far, 10.6. The normal total for these same months is 40 inches. It snowed 13 days in January, 11 days in February and six days during the present month.

And spring is here! Clean up the golf clubs, get ready to remove the storm windows, get a new battery for that car, clean out the cellar and woodshed (only, be careful in cleaning out the cellar that you do not throw away any essentials, if you have any), and join in the old chorus—

Welcome, springtime, and may your shadows always grow less!

THE MERRIMACK IS CALM AND PEACEFUL

The ancient Merrimack is having its little joke.

That great rise the other day was only a little signal that the river is as vigorous as ever, even if the waters do run surprisingly low in the summer time and deposit river mud and sewage along the rights of way, and inducing perfunctory that could never be overlooked.

So far as flood conditions are concerned, the Merrimack was just being today, the waters rolling placidly down stream and sliding over the flashboards at Pawtucket dam, dropping in a shower of weak spray down into the big red and yellow rocks in the nearby riverbed just below.

Nothing would indicate that anything alarming was on the way and rivermen say they can't predict anything positive at all from the way the waters are moving.

Up New Hampshire way, rivermen and forecasters of spring are putting the shanties on weather forecasts of kinds so far as the Merrimack is concerned. They even predict that the river waters won't go anywhere near as high as they did last season, and the records then were not at all alarming.

Present Needs. These lectures are open to the public and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend any or all of them.

THE CHANGING TIMES DEMAND SOMETHING NEW. So Frank Ricard, well known Lowell jeweler has something in offer that appears to be entirely new and somewhat revolutionary in many respects.

Mr. Ricard, former president of the Lowell Advertising club, offered a brand new calendar program of naming wedding anniversaries at today's meeting of the Advertising club, and explained in detail his suggestions that would be coming forth, and all along the line of wedding celebrations, if carried into effect.

Mr. Ricard's plan will have the backing of the Lowell Jewellers' association, he says, and then will be taken to the convention of the state jewellers, scheduled to be held in Springfield shortly, and from there, with favorable support, will be referred to the next national convention of the jewellers of the U. S. A.

Mr. Ricard explained the details of his new revised system of wedding anniversary periods and titles today in a visit to the Lowell chamber of commerce, just before departing to the Advertising club meeting to offer his suggestions there. Armed with several typewritten copies of his own invention and "new arrangement" of commemorative dates and titles, he actually created quite a stir.

The Lowell man believes that there are not enough wedding anniversaries celebrated of the kind that call for articles of the gift family closely related to the jewelry store outputs. There are wooden weddings, tin weddings, etc., etc., but no chance for presenting articles of trade that can be obtained in our best jewelry stores, until one grows up to about the silver golden wedding anniversary dates.
